Rhee Insists Chinese Must Go After Armistice

House Near Whiteport Will Be Removed

The Kingston-Whiteport section contracts of the New York State Thruway are being pushed ahead, despite houses in the path of the express route. The house above, the residence of Joseph Zehentner, on the road from Hurley to DeWitt Lake, will be taken down. According to latest reports settlement had not been reached between the owner and the thruway authority. (Freeman photo)

Promises to Work in Harmony With U.S. as Wisdom Requires

Seoul, June 2 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea will "co-operate with the U. S. at any cost" but declared he will insist to the end on withdrawal of Chinese forces from North Korea after an armistice.

Rhee said he had received a three-point message from President Eisenhower, but refused to disclose its contents.

The 78-year-old leader's statement came on the heels of a report from Washington that he had proposed to Eisenhower a mutual defense pact plus substantial U. S. financial and military aid as South Korea's price for accepting allied truce terms.

"Out of gratitude to the U. S., common sense and wisdom requires that we co-operate with the U. S. at any cost. We must accept anything the U. S. President wants, but allowing the Chinamen to stay in our country is similar to accepting a death sentence," Rhee said.

In Difficult Position

Saying he is in a "very difficult position," Rhee did not elaborate on his statement indicating South Korea's bitter opposition to the latest United Nations truce proposal may be softening.

Although Eisenhower's message to Rhee was cloaked in secrecy, Washington sources said it stressed these three points:

1. The U. S. will not be deterred from concluding an armistice on what it regards as honorable terms.
2. The security of UN forces in Korea must be the determining factor in the truce talks.
3. The U. S. continues ready to support the South Korean government.

Only Monday, Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai threatened a break with the allies because of what he called the UN command's "sellout" to the Communists.

Asks Agreement

Washington reports said Rhee called for Eisenhower to agree to these four points:

1. Sign a mutual defense pact with South Korea guaranteeing the U. S. would aid South Korea if the Reds attacked after a truce. The U. S. was asked to promise prompt aid regardless of what other United Nations might do in event of such an attack.
2. Promise to continue large-scale economic and military aid to South Korea.
3. Simultaneous withdrawal from Korea of all foreign troops —Communist and United Nations —once a truce is signed.
4. Agreement by the U. S. that it and the other United Nations would not try to stop South Korea from uniting the country after a truce.

Is Not Ruled Out

Washington informants said this last point did not necessarily mean the Rhee government plans a military drive to unify Korea. They did not rule out such a possibility, however.

The ROK president said he had not yet replied to the message from Eisenhower but that he would do so "very soon."

The violent opposition of the Rhee government since the proposal was submitted last month precipitated a crisis so serious that it threatened to wreck chances for a truce in the nearly three-year-old Korean war.

The armistice negotiations at Panmunjom have been in recess since May 25 and the Communist reaction to the allied plan will not be known until Thursday when they are resumed.

The major issue that has deadlocked the truce talks for 18 months is the ultimate disposition

Conference Is Delayed

Paris, June 2 (AP)—The French Foreign Office said today the western Big Three conference at Bermuda will be postponed from mid-June to the latter part of the month, at Great Britain's suggestion. The foreign office said British Prime Minister Churchilll suggested the delay yesterday to French Ambassador Rene Massigili.

Portrait of a Queen

Queen Elizabeth II of England, whose coronation took place today, stands in the green drawing room of London's Buckingham Palace for this portrait. She wears a pale pink evening gown of needlework lace over tulle and with it the blue ribbon and star of the Order of the Garter of which she is a sovereign. The diamond diadem, once worn by Queen Victoria, has a row of diamonds between two rows of pearls.

GOP Split Seen in Senate Over Plan to End UN Funds

Knowland Believes U. S. Should Take Risk, if Negotiations Are Failure

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Party lines split in the Senate today over a proposal to shut off American contributions if the United Nations seats China's Communist government.

This proposal was the focal point in foreign policy controversy in which Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said that if present truce negotiations fail the U. S. should move aggressively in Korea and take the "calculated risk" of war with Russia.

Knowland, chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, said he believes most U. S. allies would support such a move. He voiced uncertainty about Great Britain.

Knowland also said in an MBS radio broadcast last night he does not believe allied terms would represent a "truce with honor." He said they would leave Korea divided and invite efforts by Red China to grab a UN Security Council seat.

Many Back Rider

With Knowland in the vanguard, many Republicans lined up behind a committee-approved rider to a money bill which would bar payment of U. S. funds to the UN if it granted a Security Council seat to any nation branded an agressor by the UN that means Red China.

Democrats generally opposed the rider and Sen. Hill (D.Ala.) said it would be discussed at a party Policy Committee meeting today. The Republicans also scheduled a party caucus and a

Schechter Resigns Alderman's Office

Sixth Ward Official Is to Move June 30, Letter Says

DAVID SCHECHTER

David Schechter, World War 2 veteran, who has represented the Sixth Ward in the Common Council since his election in 1949, has tendered his resignation due to moving his residence to the Third Ward.

Schechter, a Republican, in a letter to the Common Council, informed the aldermen that his residence in the Sixth Ward will terminate June 30.

Schechter's letter read:

"Since my residence in the Sixth Ward will terminate as of June 30, 1953, and I will be completely moved into the Third Ward, I feel that it is only fitting and proper that my tenure as alderman of the Sixth Ward terminate as of that date.

"I wish to state at this time that it has been an honor and a privilege to serve the people of my ward and I am most grateful to them for having given me this opportunity.

"To my colleagues on the Common Council may I say that their friendship and cooperation regardless of party affiliation will always be treasured by me and I know that my life will be a fuller one as the result thereof."

Schechter, at the time of his election, was a lifelong resident of the Sixth Ward. He was born there in 1921 and attended Public School 3 and later Kingston High School from which he graduated in 1938.

Formal Accession Is Held at Westminster

Deluge of Rain Mars Start of Procession to Historic Abbey; Crowds Massed

London, June 2 (AP)—Britain crowned Elizabeth II today in a magnificent spectacle of ancient pomp and pageantry, before the wondering eyes of her little son Charles, heir to the throne.

The thunder of guns and the pealing of bells proclaimed to millions massed in London's streets the formal accession of Elizabeth the Queen, the first coronation of a woman since Victoria, 116 years ago.

Crowds massed 25 to 35 deep acclaimed the queen going from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey, and coming home again. Only 7,500 persons were in the Abbey, but millions more could see the 2½ hour ceremony by television, for the first time.

Cries of "God Save the Queen!" blended into a mighty roar from thousands of throats as the queen's purple and golden coach left the Abbey for the main coronation procession, five miles and more through the center of the old capital.

The 27-year-old queen, who had looked drawn near the close of the long Abbey ritual—and once near tears—flashed her smile. The Duke of Edinburgh was beside her.

Starts in Downpour

There was a deluge of rain as the main procession got underway. The inside of the Queen Mother's coach was lighted by lightning which glinted on her coronet and jewels.

Wind-blown rain and brilliant sunshine competed with each other for control of the day. But the millions who had gathered to cheer the Queen stood firm in sites some had staked out 48 hours ahead of time.

The sun burst through lowering skies when Elizabeth was presented to the congregation inside the Abbey as "your undoubted Queen." A cloudburst drenched the jam-packed capital at the moment of crowning. It rained steadily for 90 minutes, stopping only a few minutes before the consecration service ended. More than 1,300 persons were counted casualties in the crash of crowds, with 25 hurt seriously enough to go to hospitals.

Son Is in Abbey

Prince Charles, who is four, was brought to the Abbey just before the Archbishop of Canterbury placed the jewel-encrusted crown of St. Edward upon the head of Britain's seventh queen, symbolically consecrating her to God and to the service of more than a half billion people in a quarter of the earth.

Charles acted like any bright four-year-old. Sucking his thumb, he gazed with awe upon the spectacle centering about his blue-eyed young mother. So he could see better, his softly weeping grandmother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, lifted him so his chubby hands could grasp the ledge of the royal gallery.

The boy destined to be king saw the crown placed on his mother's head at 12:33 p. m. (6:33 a. m., EST). Eight minutes later he saw her solemnly mount the gilded throne before the altar, and he was startled by the swelling roar of "God Save the Queen," echoing through the ancient Abbey in the united voice of 7,500 assembled dignitaries.

Tidings Are Given

Elizabeth II Regina sat in solemn splendor, the scepters of authority in her hands, her head bowed beneath the weight of the five-pound crown, while outside trumpets, bells and guns carried the tidings.

At the end of the ceremony she gave up St. Edward's crown and took on the lighter imperial crown for the procession.

The young Queen went through the stately ceremony with great poise and only the faintest out-

Queen Sends Her Congratulations to Everest Scalers

'Coronation Gift' Marks Man's First Trip to Summit of Noted Peak

London, June 2 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II took time out on her Coronation Day today to send congratulations to the British expedition that planted the Union Jack atop 29,002-foot Mt. Everest. The feat—man's first successful attempt to scale the world's highest peak—was announced last night by Buckingham Palace.

The news that two climbers in a party headed by Col. John Hunt had successfully battled their way to the icy summit in the Himalayas on May 29 was relayed to the queen first. A palace spokesman described the dramatic news as a "coronation gift."

Beekeeper Is First

The final assault on the central Asian peak on the Nepal-Tibet border—reportedly the third attempt by Hunt's 15-man expedition within the last few weeks—was made by a New Zealand beekeeper, Edward P. Hillary, 34, and a veteran guide of Nepal's Sherpa Tribe, Bhutia Tensing, 39.

The climbers raced against the approaching storms of the summer monsoons.

Ten other Everest expeditions in the last 32 years had been beaten back by the numbing cold, fierce winds and lack of oxygen that produces extreme weariness and plays mental tricks with climbers at the extreme Himalayan heights. Eight of the previous attempts to scale Mt. Everest had been by Britons.

Had Special Equipment

The Hunt expedition carried new light-weight oxygen apparatus, radios to pick up weather reports from India and newly designed mortars to blast away dangerous overhanging ice. More than 400 Nepalese bearers packed the gear over trails from Mamche Bazar, the village nearest the base of the mountain.

Eight advance camps were spotted up the mountain slopes. The last shelter, from which the final attacks were launched, was at about 28,000 feet.

It was planned that the final sprint to the top and back to the advance camp would be made in one day because it was believed nobody could live through a night in the bitter cold and rarified atmosphere at the summit.

Everest was first seen by westerners in 1849 and was named in 1855 for Sir George Everest, a surveyor-general of India.

4,000 North Koreans, Chinese Drive Upon 11 Allied Positions

Big-Scale Red Attacks Explode in Two Areas but 10 Assaults Are Smashed Solidly

Seoul, June 2 (AP)—More than 4,000 North Korean and Chinese Reds slammed against 11 allied main line positions and a handful of outposts today as big-scale Communist attacks exploded in eastern and central Korea.

American and South Koreau infantrymen smashed 10 of the main line attacks, nine on the bloody eastern front and one on the central front.

Fighting for trench line positions just in front of Luke the Gook's Castle on the eastern front, still raged.

There South Korean troops of the 12th Division were counter attacking for a second time against Reds who hammered their way to allied lines.

An 8th Army briefing officer said the bitter fighting on the eastern front was the heaviest in that section in more than a year.

Some 2,500 North Korean Communists overran two small outposts and stormed four main line positions on or near Anchor Hill. All four attacks were beaten back by troops of the 15th ROK Division, the army said.

Division Hit 3 Times

Another 750 Reds—a full battalion—hit Americans of the U. S. 45th Division in three attacks against Sand Bag Castle. Each time the attackers were stopped at the barbed wire by rifle and machine gun cross fire.

In the Luke's Castle fight, 500 to 750 Reds threw a three pronged attack against the Castle defense lines and against two main line positions east of the Castle. The two eastern prongs were smashed.

Damage, Thefts Reported to Police

Windows Are Smashed, Car Is Dented, Balls Taken at Stadium

Three incidents early this morning were attributed to vandals. Unestimated damage was caused to a city store window, theft of baseballs valued at $20 at municipal stadium and about $200 damage to a plate glass window and neon sign at a garage on the city limits.

The first incident was reported to the local police at 12:37 that a young man had gotten out of a car and tossed a stone through a large window of the Arthur L. Williams Market, 69 O'Neil street.

Williams, when contacted this morning, said he could not estimate the damage to the window which faces O'Neil street. He said the entire plate of glass would have to be removed.

The O'Neil street merchant told The Freeman that it was the second such damage to his store window, reporting that vandals had broken the glass last Halloween.

Stadium Is Ransacked

Chuck Davis, custodian at municipal stadium, reported to police at 5:55 a. m. today that baseballs belonging to the Kingston Patrolmen's Association Fraternal Youth team were stolen sometime during the night when the stadium was entered.

Police also were notified at 7:40 a. m. today that someone had thrown a stone through the plate glass window at the Albany Avenue Garage causing $75 damage. The stone, the report said, also broke a Willys neon sign valued at $25 and also had struck and damaged the hood of a new automobile inside of the garage.

Officers William Leonard and Leonard Ellsworth investigated.

Officers James Harbeck and Sheldon O'Rourke were assigned today to investigate the second broken window case at the Williams Market on O'Neil street.

A report to police headquarters early today said a car had driven

Falls Into Mine

Martins Ferry, O., June 2 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas Phillips, 35-year-old housewife, fell 25 feet into an abandoned mine when a sidewalk collapsed beneath her yesterday. Firemen rescued her with a ladder after she had been trapped for 45 minutes. Her minor injuries were treated in a hospital.

Trust Co. Plans Phoenicia Bank

Permission Is Received From State; to Have New Building

The Kingston Trust Company will establish a branch bank in Phoenicia, permission having been received today from the State Banking Department.

The new branch will be located in a new building to be erected on Main street, Phoenicia adjoining the Simpson store and the Phoenicia Hotel.

Ground has been broken for the branch, which is expected to be ready for occupancy the latter part of August.

The Kingston Trust Company recently reconstructed the Central Branch building here on Broadway, which will be open for public inspection on Saturday.

The Kingston Trust Company was organized in 1919 as successor of the Kingston National Bank, which was in its turn successor of The Kingston Bank.

The Central Branch opened for business March 15, 1920.

Air Race Features Plans To Telecast Coronation

New York, June 2 (AP)—NBC television reported today a British Canberra jet plane carrying first coronation films for showing in this country took off from London at 5:23 a. m. (EST).

As the network raced with CBS to be first on the air in this country, an NBC spokesman in a short wave broadcast from London said the film should reach Boston in six and one half to seven hours.

The jet headed first for Gander, Newfoundland, for refueling, said the NBC London spokesman.

For the moment, at least, this appeared to give NBC an edge over CBS which is due to receive its first films on a Royal Air Force jet bomber scheduled to leave London at 7:30 a. m. (EST). This plane, however, will carry later film.

The NBC films on the first plane were made from the live telecasts of the earlier part of the ceremonies by the British Broadcasting Corporation, prior to the coronation rites in Westminster Abbey.

The NBC move was sprung as a surprise, as the network previously had said it would receive its first film from the same RAF Canberra as CBS, along with the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

CBS sent a converted Mustang fighter to wait for the RAF jet at Goose Bay, Labrador.

NBC planned to do the same

Seven Persons Arraigned At Opening of County Court

Five persons arrested last month on morals charges were among seven men arraigned Monday afternoon before Judge John M. Cashin at the opening of the June term of county court.

Pleas of innocent were entered in all but one of the cases and bail was continued by the court.

Edward S. Butler, 20, represented by Attorney Hubert Richter, changed a plea of innocent to one of guilty on an indictment charging violation of Section 483, Subdivsion 2 of the penal law, dealing with endangering the morals of a minor. Judge Cashin set 10 a. m. Tuesday, June 9, for sentencing.

Butler was arrested May 1 by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police, who reported he apprehended him after Butler allegedly spent the night in an automobile that was stuck in a lawn on Route 28 in the town of Olive. With Butler, Dunn's report stated, were two girls under the age of 16, and another youth. At the time of his arrest, Butler gave his address as 580 Abeel street.

John Joseph Garofalo, 30, of 148 Clifton avenue, entered a plea of innocent on indictments charging violation of Section 483, subdivision 2, of the penal law, rape in the second degree, assault in the third degree, assault in the second degree and perjury second

Promises to Work in Harmony With U.S. as Wisdom Requires

Seoul, June 2 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea will "co-operate with the U. S. at any cost" but declared he will insist to the end on withdrawal of Chinese forces from North Korea after an armistice.

Rhee said he had received a three-point message from President Eisenhower, but refused to disclose its contents.

The 78-year-old leader's statement came on the heels of a report from Washington that he had proposed to Eisenhower a mutual defense pact plus substantial U. S. financial and military aid as South Korea's price for accepting allied truce terms.

"Out of gratitude to the U. S., common sense and wisdom requires that we co-operate with the U. S. at any cost. We must accept anything the U. S. President wants, but allowing the Chinamen to stay in our country is similar to accepting a death sentence," Rhee said.

In Difficult Position

Saying he is in a "very difficult position," Rhee did not elaborate on his statement indicating South Korea's bitter opposition to the latest United Nations truce proposal may be softening.

Although Eisenhower's message to Rhee was cloaked in secrecy, Washington sources said it stressed these three points:

1. The U. S. will not be deterred from concluding an armistice on what it regards as honorable terms.

2. The security of UN forces in Korea must be the determining factor in the truce talks.

3. The U. S. continues ready to support the South Korean government.

Only Monday, Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai threatened a break with the allies because of what he called the UN command's "sellout" to the Communists.

Asks Agreement

Washington reports said Rhee called for Eisenhower to agree to these four points:

1. Sign a mutual defense pact with South Korea guaranteeing the U. S. would aid South Korea if the Reds attacked after a truce. The U. S. was asked to promise prompt aid regardless of what other United Nations might do in event of such an attack.

2. Promise to continue large-scale economic and military aid to South Korea.

3. Simultaneous withdrawal from Korea of all foreign troops—Communist and United Nations—once a truce is signed.

4. Agreement by the U. S. that it and the other United Nations would not try to stop South Korea from uniting the country after a truce.

Is Not Ruled Out

Washington informants said this last point did not necessarily mean the Rhee government plans a military drive to unify Korea. They did not rule out such a possibility, however.

The ROK president said he had not yet replied to the message from Eisenhower but that he would do so "very soon."

The violent opposition of the Rhee government since the proposal was submitted last month precipitated a crisis so serious that it threatened to wreck chances for a truce in the nearly three-year-old Korean war.

The armistice negotiations at Panmunjom have been in recess since May 25 and the Communist reaction to the allied plan will not be known until Thursday when they are resumed.

The major issue that has deadlocked the truce talks for 18 months is the ultimate disposition

Falls Into Mine

Martins Ferry, O., June 2 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas Phillips, 35-year-old housewife, fell 25 feet into an abandoned mine, when a sidewalk collapsed beneath her yesterday. Firemen rescued her with a ladder after she had been trapped for 45 minutes. Her minor injuries were treated in a hospital.

Trust Co. Plans Phoenicia Bank

Permission Is Received From State; to Have New Building

The Kingston Trust Company will establish a branch bank in Phoenicia, permission having been received today from the State Banking Department.

The new branch will be located in a new building to be erected on Main street, Phoenicia adjoining the Simpson store and the Phoenicia Hotel.

Ground has been broken for the branch, which is expected to be ready for occupancy the latter part of August.

The Kingston Trust Company recently reconstructed the Central Branch building here on Broadway, which will be open for public inspection on Saturday.

The Kingston Trust Company was organized in 1919 as successor of the Kingston National Bank, which was in its turn successor of The Kingston Bank.

The Central Branch opened for business March 15, 1920.

Air Race Features Plans To Telecast Coronation

New York, June 2 (AP)—NBC television reported today a British Canberra jet plane carrying first coronation films for showing in this country took off from London at 5:23 a. m. (EST).

As the network raced with CBS to be first on the air in this country, an NBC spokesman in a short wave broadcast from London said the film should reach Boston in six and one half to seven hours.

The jet headed first for Gander, Newfoundland, for refueling, said the NBC London spokesman.

For the moment, at least, this appeared to give NBC an edge over CBS which is due to receive its first films on a Royal Air Force jet bomber scheduled to leave London at 7:30 a. m. (EST). This plane, however, will carry later film.

The NBC films on the first plane were made from the live telecasts of the earlier part of the ceremonies by the British Broadcasting Corporation, prior to the coronation rites in Westminster Abbey.

The NBC move was sprung as a surprise, as the network previously had said it would receive its first film from the same RAF Canberra as CBS, along with the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

CBS sent a converted Mustang fighter to wait for the RAF jet at Goose Bay, Labrador.

NBC planned to do the same

Paris, June 2 (AP)—The French Foreign Office said today the western Big Three conference at Bermuda will be postponed from mid-June to the latter part of the month, at Great Britain's suggestion. The foreign office said British Prime Minister Churchilll suggested the delay yesterday to French Ambassador Rene Massigili.

GOP Split Seen in Senate Over Plan to End UN Funds

Schechter Resigns Alderman's Office

Sixth Ward Official Is to Move June 30, Letter Says

DAVID SCHECHTER

David Schechter, World War 2 veteran, who has represented the Sixth Ward in the Common Council since his election in 1949, has tendered his resignation due to moving his residence to the Third Ward.

Schechter, a Republican, in a letter to the Common Council, informed the aldermen that his residence in the Sixth Ward will terminate June 30.

Schechter's letter read:

"Since my residence in the Sixth Ward will terminate as of June 30, 1953, and I will be completely moved into the Third Ward, I feel that it is only fitting and proper that my tenure as alderman of the Sixth Ward terminate as of that date.

"I wish to state at this time that it has been an honor and a privilege to serve the people of my ward and I am most grateful to them for having given me this opportunity.

"To my colleagues on the Common Council may I say that their friendship and cooperation regardless of party affiliation will always be treasured by me and I know that my life will be a fuller one as the result thereof."

Schechter, at the time of his election, was a lifelong resident of the Sixth Ward. He was born there in 1921 and attended Public School 3 and later Kingston High School from which he graduated in 1938.

Knowland Believes U. S. Should Take Risk, if Negotiations Are Failure

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Party lines split in the Senate today over a proposal to shut off American contributions if the United Nations seats China's Communist government.

This proposal was the focal point in foreign policy controversy in which Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said that if present truce negotiations fail the U. S. should move aggressively in Korea and take the "calculated risk" of war with Russia.

Knowland, chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, said he believes most U. S. allies would support such a move. He voiced uncertainty about Great Britain.

Knowland also said in an MBS radio broadcast last night he does not believe allied terms would represent a "truce with honor." He said they would leave Korea divided and invite efforts by Red China to grab a UN Security Council seat.

Many Back Rider

With Knowland in the vanguard, many Republicans lined up behind a committee-approved rider to a money bill which would bar payment of U. S. funds to the UN if it granted a Security Council seat to any nation branded an agressor by the UN that means Red China.

Democrats generally opposed the rider and Sen. Hill (D.Ala.) said it would be discussed at a party Policy Committee meeting today. The Republicans also scheduled a party caucus and a

Seven Persons Arraigned At Opening of County Court

Five persons arrested last month on morals charges were among seven men arraigned Monday afternoon before Judge John M. Cashin at the opening of the June term of county court.

Pleas of innocent were entered in all but one of the cases and bail was continued by the court.

Edward S. Butler, 20, represented by Attorney Hubert Richter, changed a plea of innocent to one of guilty on an indictment charging violation of Section 483, Subdivsion 2 of the penal law, dealing with endangering the morals of a minor. Judge Cashin set 10 a. m. Tuesday, June 9, for sentencing.

Butler was arrested May 1 by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police, who reported he apprehended him after Butler allegedly spent the night in an automobile that was stuck in a lawn on Route 28 in the town of Olive. With Butler, Dunn's report stated, were two girls under the age of 16, and another youth. At the time of his arrest, Butler gave his address as 580 Abeel street.

John Joseph Garofalo, 30, of 148 Clifton avenue, entered a plea of innocent on indictments charging violation of Section 483, subdivision 2, of the penal law, rape in the second degree, assault in the third degree, assault in the second degree and perjury second

Ticonderoga Tavern Burns

Ticonderoga, June 2 (AP)—About 40 tavern patrons fled to safety last night as fire raced through the 50-room Burleigh House, a six-story hotel in Ticonderoga's central square. Three walls of the brick and frame building collapsed, but the upper floors were unoccupied and no one was injured. The loss was estimated at $100,000. The fire destroyed a tavern, a beauty shop, a lumber company office and a news stand on the ground floor. Department stores on both sides of the hotel were damaged.

200 at Meeting Of Eastern Star

Highland, June 1—The recent meeting of Highland Chapter Order of the Eastern Star was attended by 200 to honor R.W. Mrs. Edna Harwick, Kingston, district deputy grand matron and R.W. Charles M. Link, Catskill, district grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster district. A degree, The Flower Shop, was given in their honor. A white fence and gateway was arranged in the west decorated with potted plants. Mrs. Minnie Schmalkuche, associate matron, was shopkeeper. Girls taking part wore bonnets, aprons and mitts, made by Mrs. Lorraine Turner, and carried garden implements. As each spoke she placed flowers in the Star colors in a bouquet of star arrangements for the district deputy. Those in the degree were Mrs. Turner, Miss Clarissa Short, Mrs. Hildreth Freer, Mrs. Betty Marks, Mrs. Muriel B. Cotant, Mrs. Victor DeMare and Mrs. John Parks. The associate matron in behalf of the chapter presented flowers to the deputy, and Miss Short and Mrs. Turner gave gifts from the chapter to the leaders featuring gifts of money attached to geranium plants. Miss Rose G. Symes sang appropriate words to Onward Christian Soldiers also In the Garden of Tomorrow accompanied by Harry B. Cotant, Jr. Entertainment included piano selections, Miss Anna Marie Hoffman, New Paltz and soprano solos, Ave Maria and Sing On by Miss Mary Ellen Ackert, New Paltz College, with Miss Hoffman accompanist.

M. W. Mrs. Annie M. Pond, New York, past grand matron and present grand secretary was a guest. She told of candles, light bulbs and plastic containers for food which have been sent to boys in service, and organs to chaplains. Organs are on the Missouri and Valley Forge. The deputy spoke of projects of the grand chapter and announced the Grand Matron's visit to the district which will take place in the Old Dutch church, Kingston, Wednesday, June 10. A dinner in the church will precede the meeting with reservations in charge of Mrs. Cornelia Clark and Mrs. Edna Morgan. The deputy was presented by R. W. Mrs. Olympia D. Cottine, past associate grand warder and the district grand lecturer by R. W. Kenneth DuBois, past associate grand sentinel. Other grand officers were M. W. Miss Alice M. Scardefield, Kingston, past grand matron and present grand treasurer; R. W. Blanche Stahl, Poughkeepsie, commissioner of appeals for upper New York state; R. W. Mrs. Nellie Denniston, Walden, district deputy of the Orange-Sullivan district; R. W. George Hosler, district grand lecturer of the Orange-Rockland district from Highland Falls and R. W. Florence E. Cotant, grand warder. Speeches were made by all the honored guests. A large representation of past grand officers and past matrons and patrons were requested to rise for a welcome. Present matrons and patrons were escorted, introduced and honored including Mrs. Selma Campbell, Cascade chapter, Wappingers; Mr. and Mrs. Tiger from Vassar chapter, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. Lorraine O'Keefe, Maranantha chapter Greenville; Mrs. Mildred Lake and Mr. Lake, Wawarsing chapter, Ellenville; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Harp, Highland chapter. Mrs. Cottine and Mr. DuBois also were honored. The worthy matron presented gifts to the entertainers and Mr. Cotant, Jr. pianist for the evening. Invitations received to the Grand Matron's meeting, June 10 in Kingston. The deputy requested associate matron, conductresses and color bearer to attend a rehearsal in Kingston, Sunday, June 7, also to the homecoming of the district deputy in Kingston chapter, Friday night, June 19 which will be preceded by a dinner.

Table decorations, corsages for grand officers and officers of Highland chapter were arranged by Mrs. Cotant, Jr., chairman. Featured at the guest table was an herb scale attractively decorated with pink roses and greens, and two candelabra with 18 candles. Bouquets of garden flowers were on the others tables, also candles. Favors of gumdrops in the form of a tree and place cards were made by Miss Frances Minard. Mr. Link read a letter from Chaplain Thomas L. Doyle, flying parson, in appreciation for all the useful articles received from Grand Chapter which mean so much to his men. Some of the boys could not write home except for the candles in dark bunkers. Mrs. Clara Blakely, chairman of the Castle Point trip, announced a visit will be made soon to the hospital. The grand treasurer said she had a case of cigarettes for the local project and $35 from the sunshine collection was given to the smoke fund of the Grand Patron for veterans.

Sympathy of the chapter was extended to Mrs. Selena Marks and family on the death of her husband, Joseph Marks. The annual trip to the home in Oriskany will take place Saturday, July 25. A bus will leave Kingston 7 o'clock in the morning. Refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served after the meeting by committee of Mrs. Schmalkuche, Mrs. Eleanor Bollen, Mrs. Theresa Margraf, Mrs. Helen Mertz, Miss Minard, Mrs. Margaret Newkirk, Mrs. Betty Poucher, Mrs. Leola Palmer, Mrs. Cecile Petersen, Mrs. Rose Wells, Mrs. Corel Vandemark.

The ham dinner served in the Methodist Church preceding the meeting was attended by 80. Tables were decorated with spring flowers and candles. Mrs. Turner was chairman of the dinner and Mrs. Cotant, Jr., decorations. Young ladies of the church served. Guests were present from New York, Kingston, Wappingers Falls, Poughkeepsie, Walden, Highland Falls, Catskill, Oak Hill, Greenville, Ellenville, Amenia, New Paltz, Newburgh.

Lake Placid, June 2 (AP)—The State Health Commissioner suggested today that cigarette manufacturers might "invest some of their profits" to find whether there is a connection between smoking and lung cancer.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe said studies at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo had shown lung cancer was four times more common among cigarettee smokers than among non-smokers.

But he pointed out, in a speech prepared for delivery at the 49th Annual Health Conference, that cigarette smoking could not be termed the sole cause of lung cancer.

"What an opportunity awaits the large tobacco companies to invest some of their profits in the health and welfare of thousands of Americans," Hilleboe said.

"A few million dollars spent for fundamental research—instead of advertising—on the association of cigarette smoking and lung cancer could well bring out the answer to this troubling question."

Hilleboe declared it was unlikely "that we can stop people from smoking, but it is likely that intensified research may help us to learn how to reduce this serious disease."

About 1,600 public health physicians, nurses, sanitation engineers and other health workers are attending the conference, which is sponsored by the State Health Department. Some organizations began meetings yesterday in connection with the conference. Sessions will end Thursday.

Buses of 3 States Get Home Checks

Albany, June 2 (AP)—Interstate buses operating within the boundaries of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania now need undergo safety inspection only in their home states.

The New York Public Service Commission announced yesterday that the three states had agreed to honor each others' safety inspection certificates, effective at once.

The agreement, affecting buses designed to carry 12 or more passengers and operated in interstate traffic, ultimately could be extended to 13 other northeastern states, the PSC said.

Previously, out-of-state buses were not permitted to operate in New York State unless they had been certified by PSC inspectors. New Jersey and Pennsylvania enforced similar requirements.

The PSC will continue safety inspections of buses entering New York across borders other than the New Jersey and Pennsylvania lines.

Police Seek Reason For Slaying, Suicide

Darien, Conn., June 2 (AP)—Police said they sought today to find out why Mrs. Priscilla Marsden, 25, bludgeoned her 3-year-old daughter to death yesterday then killed herself with a 12-gage shotgun.

Police Chief Edward Mugavero said he had the case all wrapped up except for a motive. He called the incident a murder and suicide.

He said Mrs. Marsden stabbed her daughter, Patricia, with a long steak knife then beat her on the head with a hammer some time between noon and 4 p. m.

Then she went to her bedroom, placed the muzzle of a shotgun in her mouth and touched off the trigger with a toe on her right foot, the chief said.

Husband Finds Bodies

Harry E. Marsden, her husband, said he discovered the bodies when he came from work late in the afternoon.

Chief Mugavero said no one in the neighborhood of the Marsdens' new five-room home on Cherry street in this southwestern Connecticut town, heard the report from the shotgun.

Dr. Allen Ross, medical examiner, said Patricia died of a fractured skull. She was found dead in her crib.

Marsden, an assembler in the Electric Indicator plant in nearby Stamford, said he and his wife were married five year ago.

She seemed happy when he left for work yesterday morning, he said.

Methodist Minister Killed at Germantown

Germantown, June 2 (AP)—A Methodist minister was killed yesterday when the tractor he was operating overturned and pinned him to the ground.

The Rev. Avides Demerijian, about 51, pastor of the West Taghkanic and Glenco Mills Methodist Church, was found dead by his wife.

Dewey A. Lawrence, a Columbia county coroner, said the Rev. Demerijian had been pulling a spraying machine uphill with the tractor. Apparently overloaded, the tractor flipped over backwards, Lawrence said.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Saugerties, June 1—A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday night at the municipal building. John W. Davis, past commander of Lamouree-Hackett Post, American Legion, was named grand marshal of the July 4 parade. The chamber also will sponsor two baseball games on that day. One will be played by the Saugerties Baseball Club and the other members of the Little League. A possible water carnival at the Saugerties Municipal Beach under the direction of the Boy Scouts also was discussed as well as having a block dance at night.

Mrs. Robert Thompson was elected president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Saugerties Methodist Church May 26. Other officers chosen were Miss Isabel Myer, vice-president; Mrs. Henry Hartley, secretary; Mrs. George Wilde, treasurer; Mrs. William Brown, spiritual life secretary; Mrs. Milton Armstrong, promotion secretary; Mrs. Lewis Fellows, secretary of Christian relations and local church activities; Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, secretary of missions; Mrs. David Cunningham, secretary of student work; Miss Kathryn Fellows, secretary of youth work; Miss Frances Maxwell, secretary of children's work; Mrs. Ray Quackenbush, secretary of supply work; Mrs. Glenford Myers, secretary of literature; Mrs. Grant D. Morse, chairman of the refreshment committee. The group will hold a food sale June 12. A reception is being planned for the Rev. and Mrs. George Werner and family June 7 at the church. The Rev. Mr. Werner, new pastor, formerly was minister in Grand Gorge. They moved here May 21. The annual picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. George Wilde in Mt. Marion.

The Saugerties Boy Scouts will hold their annual dinner meeting June 4 at 6:30 p. m., at the Methodist Church. The dinner will be served by members of the Methodist Choir.

Boy Scouts of Troop 32, Atonement Lutheran Church, received advancement badges Monday night. The ceremonies began with the call to colors by Larry Hunter. The color guard consisted of Charles Winters, Richard Peck, Harry Burnett and Allan Armstrong. Richard Brackett, senior patrol leader, acted as master of ceremonies, explaining the three points of Scout oath. This was followed by the candlelighting ceremony in which 12 Scouts participated.

Memorial Services Are Held at Hurley

Memorial Day services sponsored by Hurley Grange No. 963 were held as scheduled Saturday morning in spite of rainy weather which forced the speaking portions of the program indoors.

Frederic Snyder of Kingston, well known lecturer, addressed the group which gathered inside the Hurley Town Hall. Attendance was described by officials as "very good" considering the inclement weather.

Also on the program were a prayer by Mrs. L. C. Dixon, chaplain of Hurley Grange; the pledge of allegiance; a song led by children of the Hurley School; and the benediction by the Rev. John B. Steketee.

A wreath was placed on the memorial tablet by Mrs. Stanley Matthews, past president of the American Legion Auxiliary of the State of New York.

Reports Striking Dog

James Nagele, 149 Glen street, reported to police headquarters Monday at 2:15 p. m. that his car had struck a dog in front of 159 Washington avenue while operating his 1937 truck owned by A. H. Gildersleeve & Son. The dog is owned by Louis Sapp, Jr., of the Washington avenue address, a member of the Kingston Police Department.

NATIONAL INTERESTS BEFORE PROMISES

It goes without saying that keeping one's pledges is a fundamental of any moral code worth the name. But political promises are not quite of the same order.

That doesn't mean they are made to be broken, or that the man who suggests they be kept is displaying anything but a wholly admirable spirit.

Nevertheless, they are special. For one thing, they are made in the heat of campaign battles. Therefore they reflect the high emotional pitch, the exaggeration, the extremes of utterance that characterize American campaigns.

Secondly, political promises more often than not are made in at least partial ignorance of the facts of government, when they come from the "outs." It is easy to make sweeping statements when you don't know the complicating details.

Thirdly, such promises are made in a particular context of events and conditions, yet that context may be vastly altered by the time the winning politicians are installed in power and have a chance to carry out the pledges. In other words, the promises may be outdated by events.

For all these reasons, campaign promises simply cannot be taken as solemn obligations. In the nature of things, most politicians are likely to be either "over-promised," or "mis-promised."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, for instance, laid out a very specific program for the country in his first triumphant campaign of 1932. It included sharp economies. Virtually none of the pledges was ever fulfilled. New events in the Great Depression, a close Democratic look at government for the first time in 12 years, and other factors took Mr. Roosevelt down totally different paths.

The Roosevelt record at the polls suggests pointedly that the voters do not worry too much about what the campaigners say. They are more interested in how well political performance—in their opinion—fits the needs of the hour. That is their gauge.

Some Republicans today are complaining that President Eisenhower, having promised the voters spending and tax cuts, is now repudiating the pledges by not assuring them a balanced budget and lower taxes in the fiscal year immediately ahead.

It should be noted at once that Mr. Eisenhower never promised these goals by any particular date, so actually he has not yet reneged. He has merely stated audaciously that their accomplishment will be somewhat delayed.

But a more important observation is this: The President is in office now, getting acquainted with the inner workings of government (the first Republican in 20 years), measuring problems at close hand, meeting events not foreseen in 1952, like Stalin's death.

History suggests Mr. Eisenhower will be judged by the people—as will his party—on how he faces up to the world as he finds it, not on what he proposed to do last year when he did not have the responsibility or the knowledge which goes with power.

To propose that he regard fulfillment of his promises as his paramount duty in the White House is to recommend that he be entrapped by the past, by uninformed estimates of world situations, by the emotional excesses of campaigning.

This kind of tortured consistency means little to wise politicians. They know the real stake is the national interest, and what counts is the way a President and his party serve that interest.

"New gadgets take backbreak out of gardening," writes the garden editor of a large newspaper. Only when the scientists invent gadgets to run the gadgets will we be convinced that gardening isn't still hard work.

For, lo the winter is past; the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of the birds is come, and the voice of the commencement speaker is heard in the land.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE THIEF SHOUTS "STOP THIEF"

A child comes home from school and tells her parents that "Senator McCarthy is a bad man. He attacks innocent people." Of course, some schoolteacher said that without ever having read a line of testimony adduced by any Congressional committee.

A lady of liberal persuasions but anti-Communist tells me that Senator McCarran is a Fascist. I ask for evidence and from a prolonged conversation I discover that she wants to bring an unlimited number of Europeans into this country.

It has been Communist tactics since 1936-37 to smear every person who has opposed them. I set that date because it is the period when the La Follette Committee was taken over by the Harold Ware Cell. They used that committee of Congress to smear many American citizens. When Martin Dies, a Congressman from Texas, became chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1938, he was violently smeared, as was every friendly witness that appeared before his or any similar committee of Congress ever since. The Communists have devoted themselves to an obscene campaign of vituperation and falsification against individuals.

It is possible in this country to have differences of opinion on all subjects and to develop intelligent discussions with even vehement pros and cons, but if a Communist is asked to declare his view or his affiliations, or if one who was once a Communist and has left that party is asked to provide information, in the national interest, on the nature of this movement and its methods and procedures, the response is a sneer and the questioner is viciously attacked not only by the Communists but also by those who denominate themselves as liberals.

In a word, a Communist is sacrosanct; a spy against his own country is to be treated with reverent courtesy! The logic of this theory defies analysis, but that many otherwise decent people hold to it is beyond question.

Two elements enter into this confusion:

The first is selfish and mundane. Many so-called liberals, during the 1930's and early 1940's, joined in United Front activities with American Communists. Their records are available. As the investigations into Communist activities move from the periphery of association to the hard core of affiliation, some of these persons stand out clearly as dupes.

Many of them sacrificed intellectual integrity for the froth of momentary popularity. Others, fearing that the Communists would smear them as Fascists and reactionaries moved into Front organizations where they were praised for the profundity of their liberalism. Still others developed so passionate a hatred for Mussolini and Hitler, particularly Hitler, that they joined any cause and associated themselves with any activity, including espionage against their own country, in the belief that they were thus harming Hitler.

The second element in this trend were those who really believed, during the Depression, that the American civilization had reached its peak and was deteriorating. They concluded that Socialism in some form was inevitable.

A few recognized the inherent evils of the Communist movement, and fought it from strictly doctrinaire positions, such as "The New Leader" Socialists, the followers of David Dubinsky and Norman Thomas, etc. While they often provided an intellectual argument against the Communists, their strictly doctrinaire attitudes kept them from really aiding vital anti-Communist movements. As in Europe, so in the United States, most of the Social Democrats, while they despised Stalin, adored Karl Marx. Thus, many of them found themselves, at various times, in and out of Front groups.

Others adopted an attitude that while they opposed the Communists, they also opposed the methods adopted by a nationalist, capitalistic society to defend itself against the Communists. Such became, and are now, defenders of the very people they oppose. They find in the First and Fifth Amendments full justification for their paradox. Some of this category even today hope and pray that Alger Hiss will be exonerated.

Actually they have became the first line of defense of Communism, a doctrine which they now oppose. Among such are many great names in American life—so important that to their defense come other great names and institutions. When great names are attached to foolish men, that should be known too.

Because of this defensive activity, many Communists remain in our government and in important organizations of the people. The full facts about Communism in the United States must become public without regard to personal preferences.

TRAINING OF THE GERIATRICIAN

Now that there are more elderly people in the world than any other single group, a new specialty in medicine has developed known as geriatrics, and the specialist is called a geriatrician. In all medical specialties, special training is required; thus the specialist in ear, nose and throat, the eye, diseases of women, general surgery, plastic surgery, and other branches takes time from general practice to study his specialty under the supervision of outstanding specialists in the specialty for which he is preparing himself.

What about the training necessary to become a geriatrician? The geriatrician must first be one who has spent several years in general all-around practice in which he not only becomes experienced in all branches, up to a certain point, and, what is most important, must be interested in the elderly and have a sympathetic approach to them and their ills.

In Geriatrics, the medical journal for physicians treating the elderly, Dr. Malford W. Thewlis, director of the Thewlis Clinic, Wakefield, R. I., and secretary of the American Geriatrics Society, states that actual geriatrics begins about 40, but, even after that, one must always think of prevention.

"A general practitioner devotes most of his time to his practice, but he can find time to look over publications focussing on geriatrics. A good working library is a necessity."

A good geriatrician first goes through about five years of general practice, but ten years would be better. He studies his families closely; he knows their individual peculiarities and requirements. He learns that some patients improve without treatment and do better without medicines. He learns that elderly people cannot stand harsh methods; gentleness is always needed.

One great saving of time suggested, is having the patient fill out a questionnaire of about two hundred items. The patient thus furnishes the physician with important information which he himself thinks unimportant or of which he might never think. From these questionnaires, the physician can make up a card index enabling him to have full information regarding the case always at hand.

In conclusion, Dr. Thewlis states: "The physician can train himself for geriatric practice by reading, studying, taking postgraduate courses in internal medicine. If one is genuinely interested in the aged and has a good medical background, he is actually a practicing geriatrician."

The Penalty One Pays for Having a Reputation

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — If the purpose of recent conflicting statements on the future size of the U. S. Air Force has been to confuse the Russians, the effort seems to have succeeded admirably. In this process, however, the U. S. Congress and the American people seem to have been equally bewildered.

The net impression now is that the air force budget for next year has been cut by $5 billion, and the number of wings has been reduced from 143 to 120.

A new bureaucratic activity in Washington during the next few weeks will therefore be performed by what might be called a busy Department of Fuller Explanation. But out of hard facts now available, this much can be told:

The entire defense setup is going to be re-reviewed by the new Joint Chiefs of Staff when they take office in August under their new chairman, Adm. Arthur W. Radford.

The 120-wing air force is explained as "an interim goal" only—not the final goal. If, after the re-review is completed, it is decided that 143 wings or more are necessary, that number will again be recommended. But the additional 23 wings would not be available until later than scheduled by the original Truman administration plan. This called for 143 wings by January, 1955.

The strength of the air force was put officially at 103 wings as of April 1, with 10 more wings organized but waiting for planes. The revised goals would be to have 114 wings by June 30, 1954 and 120 wings by June 30, 1955.

Transport Cuts Would Hurt Army

The obvious cutback, it is being explained, will be made by reducing the number of trainers, liaison planes, helicopters and transports. But most of these auxiliary planes are not organized by wings. The cut in transports will hit the Army harder than it will the Air Force, by reducing airborne infantry division strength.

Even with these cutbacks, the reduction of 23 wings has not yet been accounted for. So when it is maintained that the Air Force is getting more airpower for less money, and that it will be stronger in 1954 than it would have been under the 143-wing plan, some congressmen—like Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine—are of the opinion they are being kidded.

Nevertheless, there are serious presentations that in the next year not one combat aircraft—not one fighter or bomber—will be lost to the Air Force, in spite of budget cuts.

The explanation for this is that in the present status of aircraft production, the long "lead times" between order and delivery can be reduced. And with more efficient manufacture, deliveries of combat planes will be more rapid than had been previously scheduled.

This is explained in part by examination of the revised Air Force budget. The amount of money scheduled for spending on new aircraft procurement during the coming fiscal year is now put by the Eisenhower administration at $6.3 billion.

Under the Truman administration budget, $7 billion was scheduled for spending on new aircraft procurement. The cut from this figure is $700 million, or 10 per cent.

Reduction Would Be Felt Later

This would cover the cutbacks in training planes and transports, metioned above. Deliveries on combat would not be cut back, but speeded up, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954.

If the 120-wing "interim goal" figure is not changed, however, where the reduction in combat planes would be felt is after June 30, 1954.

The $5 billion savings figure is being kicked around represents a cut in Eisenhower administration requests for new spending authority for the coming year. The Truman budget had requested $16.8 billion for the Air Force. It is now being said that the Air Force couldn't spend this much money, even if it had it.

The Eisenhower budget therefore requests only $11.7 billion. The Eisenhower savings in Air Force cash spending are only $2.3 billion for next year—$15.1 billion instead of $17.4 billion.

This again is an indication that it is now planned to cut back Air Force production in the years after fiscal 1954. When it is said that no cutbacks are being planned in combat strength, what they are talking about are schedules for the year ending June 30, 1954.

It is now apparent that these cutbacks were dictated to the Air Force by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and his office, backed up by the National Security Council. This means that President Eisenhower and his top cabinet officers approved.

The Air Force does not approve the cuts. The Air Force would have liked another $1.5 billion to spend next year, at least. What may happen, of course, is that an air-minded Congress may take matters into its own hands and restore this amount. Or more.

The Indestructible Chateau

The Castle of Villegongis, France, was saved from destruction in a remarkable way. During the French Revolution in 1794 the owner, a man named Barbancois, was ordered to demolish the castle. He hired a gang of laborers to wreck the building, but at the end of each day's work he paid the same wreckers overtime to rebuild overnight what they had destroyed in the day. The work of alternate destruction and reconstruction went on until 1798 when the regime changed and the castle was permitted to survive.

WONDER HUGS

I hope the readers of this humble column will not gather from today's caption that the man who fashions these brief paragraphs each week is now aspiring to give advice to the lovelorn. I try to avoid that area like a barefooted-boy astutely avoids the briar patch or the thistle-infested meadow.

Recently the Employment Counsellor carried a very interesting and very significant news item. It read like this: "At a mid-western orphanage the infant mortality has been reduced almost 50%, not through the use of a new wonder drug but through an old wonder hug. Each attendant nurse was instructed to hold the motherless children for at least one hour a day. You know, make the little fellow feel like he had a mother. The remedy has cut the deaths, under one year old, almost to one-half."

This little news item strikes a death blow at all of those "experts" who have been trying to tell us that all that is necessary is to provide good food and good clothing and a controlled environment and all will be well. There is a proverb which says that "dry bread is better with love than a fat capon with fear," and the children under one year of age prove it—as well as some of the older ones.

That is to say, history is on the side of the old-fashioned hug. Goodnights that have the heart of a true love in them are worth more to a child's sense of well-being than a luxurious home or a world-full of the products of our scientific laboratories. Better the home where love tends the fires than all that dollars and drugs can do for children. No matter how modern the house—or how handy it is to the drug store—it still is not a home unless little children and growing young people can feel a warmth of affection that is as natural a part of their lives as the sunshine.

The therapeutic value of "a little bit of love" has never been—and never will be—equalled by the miracle drugs. There is no substitute for that old-fashioned commodity called "love." It alone can shatter fearfulness and put to rout the terrible feeling of insecurity. Love alone can change outlooks and fashion cheer out of the remnants of worries.

The achievements of laboratories in our day is a thing that startles the imagination. But when we are making up the tallies we had better not forget to include the universal human demand for the inner feeling that "somebody cares."

Other Senators and Korean Government Back Taft View Regarding Effectiveness of UN

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 2—Confirmation of the point of view of Senator Taft that the United Nations as an instrumentality for making peace in Korea has broken down and that a new alliance has to be forged in Asia now has come from other important members of the Senate and from the Korean government itself.

The Republic of Korea, which has suffered the biggest losses on the allied side, has served notice on the United States government that the so-called UN plan for a truce in Korea can only mean eventually the enslavement of all Korea by the Communists.

The proposal of President Rhee is that an alliance be formed by the United States and the Korean government and that, in the event of an attack on the southern forces in violation of an armistice, America will come to the aid of the Koreans as against the aggressors. This would be a defense pact, which the Korean government wishes the United States to sign before there's a truce in Korea.

But the same proposal includes a suggestion that American and all other allied forces be withdrawn at once from the south and that all Communist Chinese troops be withdrawn from the north so that only Koreans shall remain in the north and the south.

So confident is the Korean president that all of Korea would become pacified under such an arrangement that he is willing to see American troops go home while the pacification is undertaken by the South Korean armies.

What it all amounts to is a proposal that everybody get out of Korea except the Koreans and to let the natives of that country settle the problem themselves.

The idea that the UN has too many cross-currents of loyalty among its members to deal fairly with the Korean issue is basic in the thinking of the president of Korea. It is understood that a protest has been made by him because the UN negotiators did not consult the Korean government's representative in drawing up the latest proposal and only notified him of the contents just before it was presented to the Communists. There is no explanation as to why this was done to a faithful ally.

Further support for the viewpoint of Senator Taft has come from Senators Knowland of California and H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Republicans, both of whom say the recent Taft speech was misinterpreted and distorted.

Senator Knowland, for instance, says: "As I read his (Senator Taft's) entire text, what he was referring to was the situation in the event the present cease-fire negotiations should break down, and it was only on that basis that he was suggesting that we would then have to make plans and not be tied down by the United Nations restrictions which have been upon us ever since the outbreak of the Korean war."

The California senator said, in his Mutual Broadcasting Company interview, that he didn't think the Greeks or the Turks would desert the United States in the Far East and he was sure the Philippines and Thailand, which have forces in Korea, would go along with the United States. He pointed out that the Republic of Korea alone "has furnished ten times as many troops as all the rest of the United Nations put together.

As for "going it alone," Mr. Knowland declared he had supported the NATO Treaty, the Marshall Plan, the United Nations Treaty and the Greek-Turkish aid program, but he added: "I don't think these alliances can be merely one-way, where our friends in Europe expect us to support our commitments—which we will do—in Europe, and at the same time, when we are presumably trying to stop Communist aggression, for them to in fact encourage Communist aggression in Asia. To me that doesn't make sense."

Senator Knowland thought the British, in their House of Commons debate, rather than Mr. Taft by his speech had opened up the whole subject of the value of the UN, particularly when the British statesmen propose that Red China be admitted to the UN after the armistice in Korea. He thought, too, that Senator Taft was really speaking to our allies and was sending a "signal to our allies that these alliances have to be two-way streets, and that we can't have them running out on us in Asia, and at the same time expecting us—as we are going to do—to live up to our commitments in Europe."

Considerable sentiment is developing in Congress behind the Taft viewpoint, which is that, if the truce fails, the United Nations cannot handle the Korean negotiations any longer and that a new grouping of government outside the UN mechanism will have to be established if American boys are to be brought home at an early date.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The financial report of the Garment Workers' Union, of which David Dubinsky is the perpetual president-dictator, is a challenge to the patrotism and the civic intelligence of American citizens and a menace to their political independence and constitutional freedom.

Pro-union journalists, who improvised hymns of propaganda finding beauty in this stunning boast to the recent national convention in Chicago, seemed to be unaware of the true character of the nation, and the states, and of the limited functions of unions. Rapturous accounts which I read paid no heed to the obvious menace of a treasury of $166,100,140, all under the arbitrary hand of one international conspirator who has employed in his secret designs two of the Reddest communists in the world.

The New York Times account was written by a member of the CIO, who, in the role of army colonel, served as press agent of the army of occupation which seized Montgomery Ward in Chicago and forcibly carried out Sewill Avery, personifying the management, during the war. The Time's story was lacking in that "interpretation" for the better understading of the public which Mr. Sulzberger, its publisher, recommended in a speech on journalism at Columbia last summer. Pointedly it did not advise the readers that this treasury of $166,100,140 is greater than the consolidated surplus in all the treasuries of all the states and the United States together. The union is rich beyond belief. The states and the nation are poor beyond prospect of recovery from debt. Yet the union owns $125,000,000 of government bonds.

The two Red communists to whom I refer, are Jay Lovestone, a mysterious and sinister figure, and Irving Brown, a soap-box fourflusher who lives high in Europe and is ballyhooed by a clique of newspaper and magazine fakers as a dashing barricade-fighter against Kremlin Communists in anti-Kremlin countries. There is no evidence that Brown ever gave or took a slap in the face. His artificial reputation as a varsity athlete at New York University collapsed under inquiry. Yet President Eisenhower has publicly acknowledged Brown and through him, Lovestone, who is Brown's boss and Dubinsky's secretary of state for foreign affairs. And the Central Intelligence Agency last January had poured about three million dollars of our income taxes into the overseas political conspiracies of Dubinsky, Lovestone, Brown and the AF of L as a general whole.

The authority for this estimate was Carmel Offie, a former secretary and confidant of William C. Bullitt, when he was ambassador in Moscow and Paris, later an agent of the State Department and still later an agent of the CIA. Offie said the CIA had given the AF of L a little less than three millions to spend on interference with the domestic politics of foreign nations. Allen Dulles, the chief of the CIA and brother of the secretary of state, has refused to disclose anything about the activities of Dubinsky, Lovestone, Brown and the AF of L in foreign countries. And no denial ever has been made by President Ike, Dulles, Dubinsky, Lovestone or Brown of proof that Lovestone and Brown harangued for a bloody revolution in the United States and the usurpation of the government by a system of Soviets. Neither Lovestone nor Brown has responded to repeated challenges to show proof that either of them ever repudiated those declared purposes.

Dubinsky is the guiding genius of all this. Like Lovestone and Brown, he is opposed to the rule of the Kremlin. The extent and particulars of his disagreement with Lovestone and Brown are unspecified.

Yet here we have information, joyously reported by devotees of the Dubinsky machine, that this union of low-wage needle-workers

NATIONAL INTERESTS BEFORE PROMISES

It goes without saying that keeping one's pledges is a fundamental of any moral code worth the name. But political promises are not quite of the same order.

That doesn't mean they are made to be broken, or that the man who suggests they be kept is displaying anything but a wholly admirable spirit.

Nevertheless, they are special. For one thing, they are made in the heat of campaign battles. Therefore they reflect the high emotional pitch, the exaggeration, the extremes of utterance that characterize American campaigns.

Secondly, political promises more often than not are made in at least partial ignorance of the facts of government, when they come from the "outs." It is easy to make sweeping statements when you don't know the complicating details.

Thirdly, such promises are made in a particular context of events and conditions, yet that context may be vastly altered by the time the winning politicians are installed in power and have a chance to carry out the pledges. In other words, the promises may be outdated by events.

For all these reasons, campaign promises simply cannot be taken as solemn obligations. In the nature of things, most politicians are likely to be either "over-promised," or "mis-promised."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, for instance, laid out a very specific program for the country in his first triumphant campaign of 1932. It included sharp economies. Virtually none of the pledges was ever fulfilled. New events in the Great Depression, a close Democratic look at government for the first time in 12 years, and other factors took Mr. Roosevelt down totally different paths.

The Roosevelt record at the polls suggests pointedly that the voters do not worry too much about what the campaigners say. They are more interested in how well political performance—in their opinion—fits the needs of the hour. That is their gauge.

Some Republicans today are complaining that President Eisenhower, having promised the voters spending and tax cuts, is now repudiating the pledges by not assuring them a balanced budget and lower taxes in the fiscal year immediately ahead.

It should be noted at once that Mr. Eisenhower never promised these goals by any particular date, so actually he has not yet reneged. He has merely stated audaciously that their accomplishment will be somewhat delayed.

But a more important observation is this: The President is in office now, getting acquainted with the inner workings of government (the first Republican in 20 years), measuring problems at close hand, meeting events not foreseen in 1952, like Stalin's death.

History suggests Mr. Eisenhower will be judged by the people—as will his party—on how he faces up to the world as he finds it, not on what he proposed to do last year when he did not have the responsibility or the knowledge which goes with power.

To propose that he regard fulfillment of his promises as his paramount duty in the White House is to recommend that he be entrapped by the past, by uninformed estimates of world situations, by the emotional excesses of campaigning.

This kind of tortured consistency means little to wise politicians. They know the real stake is the national interest, and what counts is the way a President and his party serve that interest.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE THIEF SHOUTS "STOP THIEF"

A child comes home from school and tells her parents that "Senator McCarthy is a bad man. He attacks innocent people." Of course, some schoolteacher said that without ever having read a line of testimony adduced by any Congressional committee.

A lady of liberal persuasions but anti-Communist tells me that Senator McCarran is a Fascist. I ask for evidence and from a prolonged conversation I discover that she wants to bring an unlimited number of Europeans into this country.

It has been Communist tactics since 1936-37 to smear every person who has opposed them. I set that date because it is the period when the La Follette Committee was taken over by the Harold Ware Cell. They used that committee of Congress to smear many American citizens. When Martin Dies, a Congressman from Texas, became chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1938, he was violently smeared, as was every friendly witness that appeared before his or any similar committee of Congress ever since. The Communists have devoted themselves to an obscene campaign of vituperation and falsification against individuals.

It is possible in this country to have differences of opinion on all subjects and to develop intelligent discussions with even vehement pros and cons, but if a Communist is asked to declare his view or his affiliations, or if one who was once a Communist and has left that party is asked to provide information, in the national interest, on the nature of this movement and its methods and procedures, the response is a sneer and the questioner is viciously attacked not only by the Communists but also by those who denominate themselves as liberals.

In a word, a Communist is sacrosanct; a spy against his own country is to be treated with reverent courtesy! The logic of this theory defies analysis, but that many otherwise decent people hold to it is beyond question.

Two elements enter into this confusion:

The first is selfish and mundane. Many so-called liberals, during the 1930's and early 1940's, joined in United Front activities with American Communists. Their records are available. As the investigations into Communist activities move from the periphery of association to the hard core of affiliation, some of these persons stand out clearly as dupes.

Many of them sacrificed intellectual integrity for the froth of momentary popularity. Others, fearing that the Communists would smear them as Fascists and reactionaries moved into Front organizations where they were praised for the profundity of their liberalism. Still others developed so passionate a hatred for Mussolini and Hitler, particularly Hitler, that they joined any cause and associated themselves with any activity, including espionage against their own country, in the belief that they were thus harming Hitler.

The second element in this trend were those who really believed, during the Depression, that the American civilization had reached its peak and was deteriorating. They concluded that Socialism in some form was inevitable.

A few recognized the inherent evils of the Communist movement, and fought it from strictly doctrinaire positions, such as "The New Leader" Socialists, the followers of David Dubinsky and Norman Thomas, etc. While they often provided an intellectual argument against the Communists, their strictly doctrinaire attitudes kept them from really aiding vital anti-Communist movements. As in Europe, so in the United States, most of the Social Democrats, while they despised Stalin, adored Karl Marx. Thus, many of them found themselves, at various times, in and out of Front groups.

Others adopted an attitude that while they opposed the Communists, they also opposed the methods adopted by a nationalist, capitalistic society to defend itself against the Communists. Such became, and are now, defenders of the very people they oppose. They find in the First and Fifth Amendments full justification for their paradox. Some of this category even today hope and pray that Alger Hiss will be exonerated.

Actually they have became the first line of defense of Communism, a doctrine which they now oppose. Among such are many great names in American life—so important that to their defense come other great names and institutions. When great names are attached to foolish men, that should be known too.

Because of this defensive activity, many Communists remain in our government and in important organizations of the people. The full facts about Communism in the United States must become public without regard to personal preferences.

TRAINING OF THE GERIATRICIAN

Now that there are more elderly people in the world than any other single group, a new specialty in medicine has developed known as geriatrics, and the specialist is called a geriatrician. In all medical specialties, special training is required; thus the specialist in ear, nose and throat, the eye, diseases of women, general surgery, plastic surgery, and other branches takes time from general practice to study his specialty under the supervision of outstanding specialists in the specialty for which he is preparing himself.

What about the training necessary to become a geriatrician? The geriatrician must first be one who has spent several years in general all-around practice in which he not only becomes experienced in all branches, up to a certain point, and, what is most important, must be interested in the elderly and have a sympathetic approach to them and their ills.

In Geriatrics, the medical journal for physicians treating the elderly, Dr. Malford W. Thewlis, director of the Thewlis Clinic, Wakefield, R. I., and secretary of the American Geriatrics Society, states that actual geriatrics begins about 40, but, even after that, one must always think of prevention.

"A general practitioner devotes most of his time to his practice, but he can find time to look over publications focussing on geriatrics. A good working library is a necessity."

A good geriatrician first goes through about five years of general practice, but ten years would be better. He studies his families closely; he knows their individual peculiarities and requirements. He learns that some patients improve without treatment and do better without medicines. He learns that elderly people cannot stand harsh methods; gentleness is always needed.

One great saving of time suggested, is having the patient fill out a questionnaire of about two hundred items. The patient thus furnishes the physician with important information which he himself thinks unimportant or of which he might never think. From these questionnaires, the physician can make up a card index enabling him to have full information regarding the case always at hand.

In conclusion, Dr. Thewlis states: "The physician can train himself for geriatric practice by reading, studying, taking postgraduate courses in internal medicine. If one is genuinely interested in the aged and has a good medical background, he is actually a practicing geriatrician."

The entire defense setup is going to be re-reviewed by the new Joint Chiefs of Staff when they take office in August under their new chairman, Adm. Arthur W. Radford.

The 120-wing air force is explained as "an interim goal" only—not the final goal. If, after the re-review is completed, it is decided that 143 wings or more are necessary, that number will again be recommended. But the additional 23 wings would not be available until later than scheduled by the original Truman administration plan. This called for 143 wings by January, 1955.

The strength of the air force was put officially at 103 wings as of April 1, with 10 more wings organized but waiting for planes. The revised goals would be to have 114 wings by June 30, 1954 and 120 wings by June 30, 1955.

Transport Cuts Would Hurt Army

The obvious cutback, it is being explained, will be made by reducing the number of trainers, liaison planes, helicopters and transports. But most of these auxiliary planes are not organized by wings. The cut in transports will hit the Army harder than it will the Air Force, by reducing airborne infantry division strength.

Even with these cutbacks, the reduction of 23 wings has not yet been accounted for. So when it is maintained that the Air Force is getting more airpower for less money, and that it will be stronger in 1954 than it would have been under the 143-wing plan, some congressmen—like Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine—are of the opinion they are being kidded.

Nevertheless, there are serious presentations that in the next year not one combat aircraft—not one fighter or bomber—will be lost to the Air Force, in spite of budget cuts.

The explanation for this is that in the present status of aircraft production, the long "lead times" between order and delivery can be reduced. And with more efficient manufacture, deliveries of combat planes will be more rapid than had been previously scheduled.

This is explained in part by examination of the revised Air Force budget. The amount of money scheduled for spending on new aircraft procurement during the coming fiscal year is now put by the Eisenhower administration at $6.3 billion.

Under the Truman administration budget, $7 billion was scheduled for spending on new aircraft procurement. The cut from this figure is $700 million, or 10 per cent.

Reduction Would Be Felt Later

This would cover the cutbacks in training planes and transports, metioned above. Deliveries on combat would not be cut back, but speeded up, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954.

If the 120-wing "interim goal" figure is not changed, however, where the reduction in combat planes would be felt is after June 30, 1954.

The $5 billion savings figure is being kicked around represents a cut in Eisenhower administration requests for new spending authority for the coming year. The Truman budget had requested $16.8 billion for the Air Force. It is now being said that the Air Force couldn't spend this much money, even if it had it.

The Eisenhower budget therefore requests only $11.7 billion. The Eisenhower savings in Air Force cash spending are only $2.3 billion for next year—$15.1 billion instead of $17.4 billion.

This again is an indication that it is now planned to cut back Air Force production in the years after fiscal 1954. When it is said that no cutbacks are being planned in combat strength, what they are talking about are schedules for the year ending June 30, 1954.

It is now apparent that these cutbacks were dictated to the Air Force by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and his office, backed up by the National Security Council. This means that President Eisenhower and his top cabinet officers approved.

The Air Force does not approve the cuts. The Air Force would have liked another $1.5 billion to spend next year, at least. What may happen, of course, is that an air-minded Congress may take matters into its own hands and restore this amount. Or more.

The Indestructible Chateau

The Castle of Villegongis, France, was saved from destruction in a remarkable way. During the French Revolution in 1794 the owner, a man named Barbancois, was ordered to demolish the castle. He hired a gang of laborers to wreck the building, but at the end of each day's work he paid the same wreckers overtime to rebuild overnight what they had destroyed in the day. The work of alternate destruction and reconstruction went on until 1798 when the regime changed and the castle was permitted to survive.

WONDER HUGS

I hope the readers of this humble column will not gather from today's caption that the man who fashions these brief paragraphs each week is now aspiring to give advice to the lovelorn. I try to avoid that area like a barefooted boy astutely avoids the briar patch or the thistle-infested meadow.

Recently the Employment Counsellor carried a very interesting and very significant news item. It read like this: "At a mid-western orphanage the infant mortality has been reduced almost 50%, not through the use of a new wonder drug but through an old wonder bug. Each attendant nurse was instructed to hold the motherless children for at least one hour a day. You know, make the little fellow feel like he had a mother. The remedy has cut the deaths, under one year old, almost to one-half."

This little news item strikes a death blow at all of those "experts" who have been trying to tell us that all that is necessary is to provide good food and good clothing and a controlled environment and all will be well. There is a proverb which says that "dry bread is better with love than a fat capon with fear," and the children under one year of age prove it—as well as some of the older ones.

That is to say, history is on the side of the old-fashioned hug. Goodnights that have the heart of a true love in them are worth more to a child's sense of well-being than a luxurious home or a world-full of the products of our scientific laboratories. Better the home where love tends the fires than all that dollars and drugs can do for children. No matter how modern the house—or how handy it is to the drug store—it still is not a home unless little children and growing young people can feel a warmth of affection that is as natural a part of their lives as the sunshine.

The therapeutic value of "a little bit of love" has never been—and never will be—equalled by the miracle drugs. There is no substitute for that old-fashioned commodity called "love." It alone can shatter fearfulness and put to rout the terrible feeling of insecurity. Love alone can change outlooks and fashion cheer out of the remnants of worries.

The achievements of laboratories in our day is a thing that startles the imagination. But when we are making up the tallies we had better not forget to include the universal human demand for the inner feeling that "somebody cares."

Other Senators and Korean Government Back Taft View Regarding Effectiveness of UN

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 2—Confirmation of the point of view of Senator Taft that the United Nations as an instrumentality for making peace in Korea has broken down and that a new alliance has to be forged in Asia now has come from other important members of the Senate and from the Korean government itself.

The Republic of Korea, which has suffered the biggest losses on the allied side, has served notice on the United States government that the so-called UN plan for a truce in Korea can only mean eventually the enslavement of all Korea by the Communists.

The proposal of President Rhee is that an alliance be formed by the United States and the Korean government and that, in the event of an attack on the southern forces in violation of an armistice, America will come to the aid of the Koreans as against the aggressors. This would be a defense pact, which the Korean government wishes the United States to sign before there's a truce in Korea.

But the same proposal includes a suggestion that American and all other allied forces be withdrawn at once from the south and that all Communist Chinese troops be withdrawn from the north so that only Koreans shall remain in the north and the south.

So confident is the Korean president that all of Korea would become pacified under such an arrangement that he is willing to see American troops go home while the pacification is undertaken by the South Korean armies.

What it all amounts to is a proposal that everybody get out of Korea except the Koreans and to let the natives of that country settle the problem themselves.

The idea that the UN has too many cross-currents of loyalty among its members to deal fairly with the Korean issue is basic in the thinking of the president of Korea. It is understood that a protest has been made by him because the UN negotiators did not consult the Korean government's representative in drawing up the latest proposal and only notified him of the contents just before it was presented to the Communists. There is no explanation as to why this was done to a faithful ally.

Further support for the viewpoint of Senator Taft has come from Senators Knowland of California and H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Republicans, both of whom say the recent Taft speech was misinterpreted and distorted.

Senator Knowland, for instance, says: "As I read his (Senator Taft's) entire text, what he was referring to was the situation in the event the present cease-fire negotiations should break down, and it was only on that basis that he was suggesting that we would then have to make plans and not be tied down by the United Nations restrictions which have been upon us ever since the outbreak of the Korean war."

The California senator said, in his Mutual Broadcasting Company interview, that he didn't think the Greeks or the Turks would desert the United States in the Far East and he was sure the Philippines and Thailand, which have forces in Korea, would go along with the United States. He pointed out that the Republic of Korea alone "has furnished ten times as many troops as all the rest of the United Nations put together."

As for "going it alone," Mr. Knowland declared he had supported the NATO Treaty, the Marshall Plan, the United Nations Treaty and the Greek-Turkish aid program, but he added: "I don't think these alliances can be merely one-way, where our friends in Europe expect us to support our commitments—which we will do—in Europe, and at the same time, when we are presumably trying to stop Communist aggression, for them to in fact encourage Communist aggression in Asia. To me that doesn't make sense."

Senator Knowland thought the British, in their House of Commons debate, rather than Mr. Taft by his speech had opened up the whole subject of the value of the UN, particularly when the British statesmen propose that Red China be admitted to the UN after the armistice in Korea. He thought, too, that Senator Taft was really speaking to our allies and was sending a "signal to our allies that these alliances have to be two-way streets, and that we can't have them running out on us in Asia, and at the same time expecting us—as we are going to do—to live up to our commitments in Europe."

Considerable sentiment is developing in Congress behind the Taft viewpoint, which is that, if the truce fails, the United Nations cannot handle the Korean negotiations any longer and that a new grouping of government outside the UN mechanism will have to be established if American boys are to be brought home at an early date.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The financial report of the Garment Workers' Union, of which David Dubinsky is the perpetual president-dictator, is a challenge to the patrotism and the civic intelligence of American citizens and a menace to their political independence and constitutional freedom.

Pro-union journalists, who improvised hymns of propaganda finding beauty in this stunning boast to the recent national convention in Chicago, seemed to be unaware of the true character of the nation, and the states, and of the limited functions of unions. Rapturous accounts which I read paid no heed to the obvious menace of a treasury of $166,100,140, all under the arbitrary hand of one international conspirator who has employed in his secret designs two of the Reddest communists in the world.

The New York Times account was written by a member of the CIO, who, in the role of army colonel, served as press agent of the army of occupation which seized Montgomery Ward in Chicago and forcibly carried out Sewill Avery, personifying the management, during the war. The Time's story was lacking in that "interpretation" for the better understading of the public which Mr. Sulzberger, its publisher, recommended in a speech on journalism at Columbia last summer. Pointedly it did not advise the readers that this treasury of $166,100,140 is greater than the consolidated surplus in all the treasuries of all the states and the United States together. The union is rich beyond belief. The states and the nation are poor beyond prospect of recovery from debt. Yet the union owns $125,000,000 of government bonds.

The two Red communists to whom I refer, are Jay Lovestone, a mysterious and sinister figure, and Irving Brown, a soap-box fourflusher who lives high in Europe and is ballyhooed by a clique of newspaper and magazine fakers as a dashing barricade-fighter against Kremlin Communists in anti-Kremlin countries. There is no evidence that Brown ever gave or took a slap in the face. His artificial reputation as a varsity athlete at New York University collapsed under inquiry. Yet President Eisenhower has publicly acknowledged Brown and through him, Lovestone, who is Brown's boss and Dubinsky's secretary of state for foreign affairs. And the Central Intelligence Agency last January had poured about three million dollars of our income taxes into the overseas political conspiracies of Dubinsky, Lovestone, Brown and the AF of L as a general whole.

The authority for this estimate was Carmel Offie, a former secretary and confidant of William C. Bullitt, when he was ambassador in Moscow and Paris, later an agent of the State Department and still later an agent of the CIA. Offie said the CIA had given the AF of L a little less than three millions to spend on interference with the domestic politics of foreign nations. Allen Dulles, the chief of the CIA and brother of the secretary of state, has refused to disclose anything about the activities of Dubinsky, Lovestone, Brown and the AF of L in foreign countries. And no denial ever has been made by President Ike, Dulles, Dubinsky, Lovestone or Brown of proof that Lovestone and Brown harangued for a bloody revolution in the United States and the usurpation of the government by a system of Soviets. Neither Lovestone nor Brown has responded to repeated challenges to show proof that either of them ever repudiated those declared purposes.

Dubinsky is the guiding genius of all this. Like Lovestone and Brown, he is opposed to the rule of the Kremlin. The extent and particulars of his disagreement with Lovestone and Brown are unspecified.

Yet here we have information, joyously reported by devotees of the Dubinsky machine, that this union of low-wage needle-workers

A Queen Is Crowned

This is an artist's conception of how Britain's Queen Elizabeth II looked immediately after her crowning in Westminster Abbey. She is seated in the famous Coronation Chair, under whose seat is the Stone of Scone, upon which British sovereigns have been crowned since Edward II in 1308. The queen, garbed in the Robe Royal or Pall of cloth of gold, wears St. Edward's crown, which, because of its weight, is soon exchanged for the lighter Imperial Crown. In her right hand she holds the Sceptre with Cross and in her left, the Rod with Dove.

Windsor Is in Paris

In Paris, the man who still today could have been England's king watched the coronation of his niece on television. With the Duke of Windsor, briefly Edward VIII, was the woman for whom he surrendered the crown, his wife, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

He never was crowned, and his abdication in 1936 brought George VI, to the throne. Elizabeth became Queen on her father's death last year.

Queen Mother Elizabeth must have recalled today the crowning of her husband, for she wept softly through part of the ceremony. Nearby, the ordinarily vivacious Princess Margaret, 22-year-old sister of the Queen, was pensive as she watched the crown being placed on the head of the girl she has always fondly called Lilibet.

The ritual was a historic outpouring of the richness of tradition which has made England great in the past and sustained her in her modern trials. Elizabeth was a picture of queenliness. Just once, she shook her head, as if to test the fit of the crown. It rested snugly, secure, as if made for her.

Only momentarily, fleetingly, a shy smile flitted across her serious young face. But the solemnity of the occasion was awe-inspiring. Watching her every move were the representatives of 74 nations, the members of 30 other royal families.

Gen. George C. Marshall headed the official United States delegation, and the Soviet Union was represented by Ambassador Jacob Malik.

The actual act of crowning, presided over by the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, came at the end of an hour-long ceremony in the Abbey. First Elizabeth was recognized as the "Undoubted Queen" and took her oath on the Bible. She was anointed in the ceremony which dedicates a ruler to the church.

of 48,500 prisoners in allied hands who refuse to return to their Communist homelands.

Authoritative ROK sources already have disclosed some main points of the secret UN proposal.

The sources said the proposal would:

1. Turn over to a neutral commission all 48,500 balky Chinese and North Korean captives.

2. Turn over to a post-war political conference and ultimately the UN General Assembly prisoners still "reluctant" to return to their homelands after the Communists have had a chance to make "explanations" and "remove their fears."

3. Provide that India supply 1,000 troops to guard the prisoners while the neutral commission acts.

Windham to Establish Memorial for Cammer

A committee has been formed in Windham to establish a fund in memory of S. Wallace Cammer, funeral director of that place, who was killed Sept. 30, 1952, in an accident on Route 9W north of Kingston.

Cammer at one time had been employed by the W. N. Conner Funeral Home of this city.

The fund, to be known as the S. Wallace Cammer Memorial Fund, will be deposited with and invested by the Windham Village Cemetery Association, Inc., the income to be used for the general care and upkeep of the cemetery.

The National Bank of Windham has been designated to receive the contributions. Committee members are George W. Osborn, Newton B. Ford, Grant F. Morse, Millard O. Cole and Maurice J. Sullivan.

Chatham to Leave Local Store for Troy, Pennsylvania

Byron S. Chatham of Hurley, manager of the J. C. Penney Co., 318 Wall street, has been named manager of the company's store in Troy, Pa., effective July 1, it was learned today.

Chatham, who is well-known in local civic and fraternal circles, will celebrate his 17th year in the Kingston store on June 15.

Also on June 15, he will complete his 25th year with the Penney concern.

Chatham became manager of the local store in 1936 after being assistant manager in Concord, N. H.

He said this morning that no new manager has been named for the local store.

Chatham, a member of the First Baptist Church, formerly served as vice-president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, president of the Rotary Club and was chairman of the first committee for Christmas lighting in Kingston.

Conviction Is Reversed

New York, June 2 (AP)—The perjury conviction of retired police Capt. Joseph C. Workman, 48, of Brooklyn, was reversed unanimously yesterday by the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court. The court ordered a new trial. Workman, highest ranking member of the police department to be convicted in the Brooklyn crackdown on police-gambler tie-ups, was sentenced on April 18, 1952, by Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz to 2½ to 5 years in prison. He has been free in $15,000 bail since May, 1952, on a certificate of reasonable doubt. He was convicted of making false statements in a financial questionnaire submitted to the Brooklyn rackets grand jury.

policy meeting, presumably to test out GOP sentiment.

Sen. Toby (R.-NH), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he regards the rider as "an expression of no-confidence in President Eisenhower."

There were reports the President might make his position clear before the Senate votes on the issue, probably in midweek. He said previously the rider seemed to be very drastic.

Debate Continues

Meanwhile, the Senate continued debate on Money provisions of the bill, which carries $1,104,379,000 to run the State, Commerce and Justice Departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) denounced the measure, as it came from the Appropriations Committee, as a "phony" in which wastefulness masquerades in the guise of economy." He promised yesterday to offer amendments he said would save 233 million dollars.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Appropriations Committee, on the other hand, defended the bill as an economy measure which he said is nearly 39 million dollars below figures already approved by the House.

Democrats succeeded yesterday in knocking out of the bill a rider which would give Secretary of State Dulles blanket authority to fire anyone in his department in the next year if he thought the national interest demanded it.

Encouraging Communism

Knowland said last night that U. S. allies have been "encouraging communism in Asia" by coming out openly for admission of Red China to the UN.

"If they succeed in that they will give Communist China so much prestige that I think it will be very difficult to keep communism from overrunning the rest of Asia," he said.

Knowland sided with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) in the broadcast. The Californian declared that if truce efforts fail this country will have to seek "other alternatives" in Korea even at the "calculated risk" that Russia might come into the war.

Taft has said the U. S. might as well forget the UN in Korea if there is no armistice. Knowland said he believed the Ohian was merely saying "we would have to make plans and not be tied down by United Nations restrictions" in carrying on the war.

Eisenhower said last week the U. S. cannot follow a "go it alone" policy in Asia.

Test Is Postponed

Las Vegas, Nev., June 2 (AP)—The atomic test scheduled for predawn today has been postponed for 48 hours because of unfavorable weather and probable radiation hazard. An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the 11th and final test of the spring series was put off because of "unfavorable weather conditions related to offsite safety." The test, believed to be one of the biggest that the AEC has tried here, had been postponed from Monday. The atomic device or weapon was scheduled to be dropped from a plane over Yucca Flat.

Jewelery Is Stolen

London, June 2 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Sutherland arose early today to attend the Coronation and discovered jewelry they valued at 30,000 pounds ($84,000) had been stolen from their home. In November, 1950, thieves lifted 50,000 pounds ($140,000) worth of gems from her Surrey estate. In both instances, the jewels were generations-old family heirlooms.

George Hutter, charged with carnal abuse of a child and sodomy in the second degree was represented by Seymour Werbalowsky and a plea of innocent was entered. Bail was continued.

Francis Schmeltz, 46, of Cottekill, a tavern operator, pleaded innocent to charges of violation of Section 483, Subdivision 2, of the penal law, and violation of Section 65 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control law. He was represented by Louis G. Bruhn, former district attorney.

Garofalo, Perry and Hutter were arrested following an investigation by the district attorney's office and the sheriff's department of reports of alleged immoral carryings-on involving at least 10 girls from 11 to 15 years of age. The alleged "parties" reportedly took place in Perry's East Kingston home, according to District Attorney Howard C. St. John. Schmeltz was implicated as a result of the questioning of witnesses during the investigation and the charges against him concern the alleged sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

Also arraigned Monday were two men charged with grand larceny in the first degree. Lawrence B. Myers, represented by Seymour Werbalowsky, who was assigned by the court, entered a plea of innocent. James Bergan also entered a plea of innocent and Attorney Bruhn was assigned by the court to represent him.

Myers, Bergen and Butler were named in three open indictments returned Monday afternoon by the grand jury. The others arraigned had been indicted in May.

The grand jury on Monday afternoon also returned eight sealed indictments and one dismissal. The dismissal was in the case of Thomas Francis McIntosh who had been arrested following a reported assault in the town of New Paltz, but against whom the grand jury returned no charge.

Following their report, the grand jurors were excused by the court to continue their deliberations. Judge Cashin excused all trial jurors until court convenes again at 10 a. m. Tuesday, June 9.

Man Is Found Dead in Garage

John C. Tracey, 40, of 5 Bellevue avenue, Poughkeepsie, was found dead about noon Saturday in the cab of a truck in the garage of the Ulster Park Provision Company, Ulster Park, Highland State Police reported.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said death was due to coronary occlusion.

Troopers said Tracey was an itinerant meat cutter who had been employed by the company. He was last seen about 10 a. m. Saturday.

The body was removed to the Kelly Funeral Home, Kingston, and later to the William G. Miller Funeral Home, Poughkeepsie, where funeral services were to be held today. Burial was to be in St. Peter's Cemetery, Poughkeepsie.

Local Death Record

Frank S. Tongue

Funeral services for Frank S. Tongue of Saugerties were held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. The Rev. Dr. Clyde H. Snell, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, officiated. Services were largely attended by relatives, friends, including delegations of village officials, representatives of the Saugerties Town Board and a group of officials from the Saugerties Savings and Loan Association. Burial took place in Montrepose Cemetery where Dr. Snell conducted the committal service.

Joan M. Renn

Mrs. Joan M. Renn, wife of Fred L. Renn of 160 Fairview avenue, died this morning following a long illness. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Denise Mary; a son, Craig Edmund; her parents, Edmund J. and Mary C. Hallinan Coughlin of this city; and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph D. Scholar, Jr., of Kingston and Mrs. Humberto Chirichigno of New York. She was born in this city and was well known and highly respected by a large circle of friends. The funeral will be held from the Jansen & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Friday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial will take place in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives, neighbors, friends, the Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church of Ulster Park and the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, for their kind expressions of sympathy and many acts of kindness shown us during the recent bereavement in the death of Adele M. Peyronel.

Signed,
THE FAMILY.

A Queen Is Crowned

This is an artist's conception of how Britain's Queen Elizabeth II looked immediately after her crowning in Westminster Abbey. She is seated in the famous Coronation Chair, under whose seat is the Stone of Scone, upon which British sovereigns have been crowned since Edward II in 1308. The queen, garbed in the Robe Royal or Pall of cloth of gold, wears St. Edward's crown, which, because of its weight, is soon exchanged for the lighter Imperial Crown. In her right hand she holds the Sceptre with Cross and in her left, the Rod with Dove.

Elizabeth Becomes

ward trace of nervousness. But when it was over, she looked emotionally fatigued—almost as if she might burst into tears after the tiring ordeal. She had only a brief rest before the afternoon's procession.

Windsor Is in Paris

In Paris, the man who still today could have been England's king watched the coronation of his niece on television. With the Duke of Windsor, briefly Edward VIII, was the woman for whom he surrendered the crown, his wife, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

He never was crowned, and his abdication in 1936 brought George VI, to the throne. Elizabeth became Queen on her father's death last year.

Queen Mother Elizabeth must have recalled today the crowning of her husband, for she wept softly through part of the ceremony. Nearby, the ordinarily vivacious Princess Margaret, 22-year-old sister of the Queen, was pensive as she watched the crown being placed on the head of the girl she has always fondly called Lilibet.

The ritual was a historic outpouring of the richness of tradition which has made England great in the past and sustained her in her modern trials. Elizabeth was a picture of queenliness. Just once, she shook her head, as if to test the fit of the crown. It rested snugly, secure, as if made for her.

Only momentarily, fleetingly, a shy smile flitted across her serious young face. But the solemnity of the occasion was awe-inspiring. Watching her every move were the representatives of 74 nations, the members of 30 other royal families.

Gen. George C. Marshall headed the official United States delegation, and the Soviet Union was represented by Ambassador Jacob Malik.

The actual act of crowning, presided over by the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, came at the end of an hour-long ceremony in the Abbey. First Elizabeth was recognized as the "Undoubted Queen" and took her oath on the Bible. She was anointed in the ceremony which dedicates a ruler to the church.

Authoritative ROK sources already have disclosed some main points of the secret UN proposal.

The sources said the proposal would:

1. Turn over to a neutral commission all 48,500 balky Chinese and North Korean captives.

2. Turn over to a post-war political conference and ultimately the UN General Assembly prisoners still "reluctant" to return to their homelands after the Communists have had a chance to make "explanations" and "remove their fears."

3. Provide that India supply 1,000 troops to guard the prisoners while the neutral commission acts.

Windham to Establish Memorial for Cammer

A committee has been formed in Windham to establish a fund in memory of S. Wallace Cammer, funeral director of that place, who was killed Sept. 30, 1952, in an accident on Route 9W north of Kingston.

Cammer at one time had been employed by the W. N. Conner Funeral Home of this city.

The fund, to be known as the S. Wallace Cammer Memorial Fund, will be deposited with and invested by the Windham Village Cemetery Association, Inc., the income to be used for the general care and upkeep of the cemetery.

The National Bank of Windham has been designated to receive the contributions. Committee members are George W. Osborn, Newton B. Ford, Grant F. Morse, Millard O. Cole and Maurice J. Sullivan.

Plattekill

Plattekill, June 2—The Rev. Robert Hollis, a student of the Drew Theological Seminary at New Jersey, is in charge of the Plattekill - Rossville Methodist Churches, during this conference year. The Rev. Edgar Raynis, who was pastor of the two churches during the past two years, was transferred to Cornwall, where he succeeds the Rev. Wesley E. Gehard. The Rev. La Verne Dibble, pastor of the local churches several years ago, was recently appointed pastor of the Wappingers Falls and New Hamburgh Methodist Churches.

A number of local people attended the FFA banquet at the Wallkill Central School Thursday night.

Mrs. Emma Carpenter attended the 73rd annual institute of the Ulster County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held recently in the Presbyterian Church at Milton.

Hans Anderson, Mary and Alfred Anderson of Gardiner, visited Mr. and Mrs. Myron Coons Sunday.

Miss Anne Stoneburgh, daughter of Mrs. Marian Stoneburgh of Wallkill, won a beauty contest sponsored by the Newburgh American Legion. Miss Stoneburgh is a former local resident, being the granddaughter of Mrs. Renwick Harris.

An addition is being made to Russel Carpenter, Jr.'s place of business.

Cheerleaders at the Wallkill School for the ensuing year included the following local students: Elvira Garzon, Anne Murphy and Lydia Martinez.

Chatham to Leave Local Store for Troy, Pennsylvania

Byron S. Chatham of Hurley, manager of the J. C. Penney Co., 318 Wall street, has been named manager of the company's store in Troy, Pa., effective July 1, it was learned today.

Chatham, who is well-known in local civic and fraternal circles, will celebrate his 17th year in the Kingston store on June 15.

Also on June 15, he will complete his 25th year with the Penney concern.

Chatham became manager of the local store in 1936 after being assistant manager in Concord, N. H.

He said this morning that no new manager has been named for the local store.

Chatham, a member of the First Baptist Church, formerly served as vice-president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, president of the Rotary Club and was chairman of the first committee for Christmas lighting in Kingston.

Conviction Is Reversed

New York, June 2 (AP)—The perjury conviction of retired police Capt. Joseph C. Workman, 48, of Brooklyn, was reversed unanimously yesterday by the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court. The court ordered a new trial. Workman, highest ranking member of the police department to be convicted in the Brooklyn crackdown on police-gambler tie-ups, was sentenced on April 18, 1952, by Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz to 2½ to 5 years in prison. He has been free in $15,000 bail since May, 1952, on a certificate of reasonable doubt. He was convicted of making false statements in a financial questionnaire submitted to the Brooklyn rackets grand jury.

Fire Damages Garage

A fire believed to have been caused by children playing with matches caused some damage to a garage owned by Mrs. William F. Eberth, 44 Foxhall avenue, about 5:54 p. m. Monday. Engines 1 and 4 and Truck 1 responded. The fire department said the blaze was located in the loft of the garage building and had burned through the roof before it was brought under control.

Late Bulletin

Washington, June 2 (AP) — Republican Congressional leaders agreed at President Eisenhower's insistence today to scrap a proposed ban against further U.S. funds for the United Nations if Red China should be admitted to the U.N.

policy meeting, presumably to test out GOP sentiment.

Sen. Toby (R.-NH), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he regards the rider as "an expression of no-confidence in President Eisenhower."

There were reports the President might make his position clear before the Senate votes on the issue, probably in midweek. He said previously the rider seemed to be very drastic.

Debate Continues

Meanwhile, the Senate continued debate on Money provisions of the bill, which carries $1,104,379,000 to run the State, Commerce and Justice Departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) denounced the measure, as it came from the Appropriations Committee, as a "phony" in which wastefulness masquerades in the guise of economy." He promised yesterday to offer amendments he said would save 233 million dollars.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Appropriations Committee, on the other hand, defended the bill as an economy measure which he said is nearly 39 million dollars below figures already approved by the House.

Democrats succeeded yesterday in knocking out of the bill a rider which would give Secretary of State Dulles blanket authority to fire anyone in his department in the next year if he thought the national interest demanded it.

Encouraging Communism

Knowland said last night that U. S. allies have been "encouraging communism in Asia" by coming out openly for admission of Red China to the UN.

"If they succeed in that they will give Communist China so much prestige that I think it will be very difficult to keep communism from overrunning the rest of Asia," he said.

Knowland sided with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) in the broadcast. The Californian declared that if truce efforts fail this country will have to seek "other alternatives" in Korea even at the "calculated risk" that Russia might come into the war.

Taft has said the U. S. might as well forget the UN in Korea if there is no armistice. Knowland said he believed the Ohian was merely saying "we would have to make plans and not be tied down by United Nations restrictions" in carrying on the war.

Eisenhower said last week the U. S. cannot follow a "go it alone" policy in Asia.

Test Is Postponed

Las Vegas, Nev., June 2 (AP)—The atomic test scheduled for predawn today has been postponed for 48 hours because of unfavorable weather and probable radiation hazard. An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the 11th and final test of the spring series was put off because of "unfavorable weather conditions related to offsite safety." The test, believed to be one of the biggest that the AEC has tried here, had been postponed from Monday. The atomic device or weapon was scheduled to be dropped from a plane over Yucca Flat.

Jewelery Is Stolen

London, June 2 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Sutherland arose early today to attend the Coronation and discovered jewelry they valued at 30,000 pounds ($84,000) had been stolen from their home. The back door was open but there was no sign of forced entry. It was the duchess' second jewel theft in less than three years. In November, 1950, thieves lifted 50,000 pounds ($140,000) worth of gems from her Surrey estate. In both instances, the jewels were generations-old family heirlooms.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Memorial Day At Woodstock

Woodstock, June 1—A relentless downpour at parade time Saturday morning obliterated the customary pageantry of the Memorial Day ceremonies, cancelling the march to the cemetery following the services at the Town Hall. Disregarding the weather, however, a large gathering assembled at the Town Hall to remember the war dead in a joint service of both the towns of Hurley and Woodstock.

Prefacing his Memorial Day address with an expression of thanks to Martin F. Comeau, chairman of the program, for his invitation to participate in the ceremonies, the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra paid tribute to the late John Wadlin who had originally been scheduled as speaker of the day. He commended Mr. Wadlin's "gracious spirit of Christian service."

In a search for the deepest implications of Memorial Day, Mr. Dykstra said that "this is a personal day. We are thinking of individual people we are remembering." Thinking of it in terms of individuals "gives us an understanding of peace and the importance of the individual in our American life."

Describing Memorial Day as the "great freedom day when we concentrate on the glories of freedom and liberty", he made the distinction between this thought and the observance of the 4th of July. "On the 4th of July we think of the freedoms we own in terms of social life, what the colonies did, what our armies, navies and marines did across the seas. We think of the benefits of freedom."

"Memorial Day," he continued, "is different—it's purpose and meaning are different. We are especially aware that what we own has come to us by reason of the life and acts of individuals as citizens. Memorial Day speaks to us of the cost of freedom in terms of individuals. We think of victories at the end of war, but when the casualty lists come in we have a truer picture. Armies and battalions are just mechanical methods of cataloguing individuals. Freedom has a cost that is personal. Some individuals pay the greater cost for our greater freedoms and enjoyments. We remember the individuals who have gone out and not come back. We pause to think of the debt we owe individuals, the privileges we have because of the sacrifices of others."

Again emphasizing the personal nature of our reflections on Memorial Day, turned to the other side of the ledger and noted that the "privilege of freedom is also a personal one. We enjoy the privileges of freedom in our home, our business and in our pleasures. While its cost is individual, freedom also has a responsibility which is personal." Citing some staggering statistics, he said that since the birth of Christ, only one person in every two million has enjoyed freedom as we know it.

"Today," he said in conclusion, "we ask what is my personal cause for living—what is my excuse? We need a personal cause. We cannot lose a personal cause for living—a personal responsibility." Aware that each individual seeks for Utopia, he observed that actually it would be but a "vast sanitarium for people living causeless lives—where everything is taken care of. What a sad and damaging thing it is to be without a personal responsibility for life. God has given us a great responsibility."

Others who participated in the services were G. Alfred Nussbaum, American Legion post commander; the Rev. James J. Riordan, invocation; Boy Scouts and Cub Pack No. 34, Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag; Gladys Tandler, soprano who sang They Have Not Died and Ave Maria; the Rev. Kenneth E. Dearstyne who read a passage of the Scriptures from Joshua; Allen Waterous who led the singing of the Star Spangled Banner; Legionnaire Reinald W. Matheson who sang The Lord's Prayer; the Rev. Olney E. Cook, benediction.

For many of Woodstock's citizens, some too young to know the meaning of Memorial Day yet look forward to its music and color the day was a sad one, and in that respect equally as disappointing to their elders. Long before 10 a. m., the members of the Woodstock School band had assembled in full regalia, many of them in crisp brand new uniforms, at the Woodstock School. For three years the Woodstock School band has played a colorful yet solemnly stately role in the day's exercises. The group under the direction of Professor Nerola work and practice all year long in preparation for the annual parade. When the authorities were forced to cancel the parade the Woodstock School was the scene of unrelieved gloom which quickly spread throughout the village. Many expressed the heartfelt wish that the band, our many veterans who came to the services in uniform, members of the American Legion, the Auxiliary, the Fire Company, the Red Cross, the Odd Fellows, the Girl and Boy Scouts, would be given an opportunity to again make the march to the cemetery.

As in the past years, Cpl. Ray Dunn and Trooper Charles Teclon of the State Police, were standing by to lead the procession and to keep traffic conditions under control.

Woodstock Post Salutes Dead

Legion Auxiliary Meeting Is Held

Woodstock, June 1—The Woodstock unit 1026, American Legion Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting at the Legion Hall, Wednesday evening with Mrs. G. Alfred Nussbaum president, conducting the meeting.

A $5 donation was voted for the Cerebral Palsy drive.

Mrs. Clarence Snyder reported on the meeting of the Woodstock War Memorial Committee which was held on May 25. A $5 donation was voted toward the upkeep of the war memorial on the village green.

As part of its community service project the Auxiliary will present $5 to the boy graduate and $5 to the girl graduate, who in the opinion of a committee to be chosen among the teachers in the Woodstock School, have done the most for their community during their grammar school years. These awards will be presented at the graduation exercises of the Woodstock School in June.

The coupon chairman reported 207 regular and 80 miscellaneous coupons for the month.

A food sale will be held in the near future, place and date to be announced later.

Legionnaires will place plants presented by the Auxiliary on all graves of Legion members and Auxiliary members in the Woodstock Cemetery.

The Auxiliary will take part, along with the Legion Post in the Memorial Day parade and exercises to be held May 30.

The Auxiliary entertained the County Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary on Thursday evening, at the Woodstock Methodist Church Hall.

Refreshments were served by the committee for May, Miss Florence Peper and Mrs. Clayton Harder.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Memorial Day At Woodstock

Woodstock, June 1—A relentless downpour at parade time Saturday morning obliterated the customary pageantry of the Memorial Day ceremonies, cancelling the march to the cemetery following the services at the Town Hall. Disregarding the weather, however, a large gathering assembled at the Town Hall to remember the war dead in a joint service of both the towns of Hurley and Woodstock.

Prefacing his Memorial Day address with an expression of thanks to Martin F. Comeau, chairman of the program, for his invitation to participate in the ceremonies, the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra paid tribute to the late John Wadlin who had originally been scheduled as speaker of the day. He commended Mr. Wadlin's "gracious spirit of Christian service."

In a search for the deepest implications of Memorial Day, Mr. Dykstra said that "this is a personal day. We are thinking of individual people we are remembering." Thinking of it in terms of individuals "gives us an understanding of peace and the importance of the individual in our American life."

Describing Memorial Day as the "great freedom day when we concentrate on the glories of freedom and liberty", he made the distinction between this thought and the observance of the 4th of July. "On the 4th of July we think of the freedoms we own in terms of social life, what the colonies did, what our armies, navies and marines did across the seas. We think of the benefits of freedom."

"Memorial Day," he continued, "is different—it's purpose and meaning are different. We are especially aware that what we own has come to us by reason of the life and acts of individuals as citizens. Memorial Day speaks to us of the cost of freedom in terms of individuals. We think of victories at the end of war, but when the casualty lists come in we have a truer picture. Armies and battalions are just mechanical methods of cataloguing individuals. Freedom has a cost that is personal. Some individuals pay the greater cost for our greater freedoms and enjoyments. We remember the individuals who have gone out and not come back. We pause to think of the debt we owe individuals, the privileges we have because of the sacrifices of others."

Again emphasizing the personal nature of our reflections on Memorial Day, turned to the other side of the ledger and noted that the "privilege of freedom is also a personal one. We enjoy the privileges of freedom in our home, our business and in our pleasures. While its cost is individual, freedom also has a responsibility which is personal." Citing some staggering statistics, he said that since the birth of Christ, only one person in every two million has enjoyed freedom as we know it.

"Today," he said in conclusion, "we ask what is my personal cause for living—what is my excuse? We need a personal cause. We cannot lose a personal cause for living—a personal responsibility." Aware that each individual seeks for Utopia, he observed that actually it would be but a "vast sanitarium for people living causeless lives—where everything is taken care of. What a sad and damaging thing it is to be without a personal responsibility for life. God has given us a great responsibility."

Others who participated in the services were G. Alfred Nussbaum, American Legion post commander; the Rev. James J. Riordan, invocation; Boy Scouts and Cub Pack No. 34, Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag; Gladys Tandler, soprano who sang They Have Not Died and Ave Maria; the Rev. Kenneth E. Dearstyne who read a passage of the Scriptures from Joshua; Allen Waterous who led the singing of the Star Spangled Banner; Legionnaire Reinald W. Matheson who sang The Lord's Prayer; the Rev. Olney E. Cook, benediction.

For many of Woodstock's citizens, some too young to know the meaning of Memorial Day yet look forward to its music and color the day was a sad one, and in that respect equally as disappointing to their elders. Long before 10 a. m., the members of the Woodstock School band had assembled in full regalia, many of them in crisp brand new uniforms, at the Woodstock School. For three years the Woodstock School band has played a colorful yet solemnly stately role in the day's exercises. The group under the direction of Professor Nerola work and practice all year long in preparation for the annual parade. When the authorities were forced to cancel the parade the Woodstock School was the scene of unrelieved gloom which quickly spread throughout the village. Many expressed the heartfelt wish that the band, our many veterans who came to the services in uniform, members of the American Legion, the Auxiliary, the Fire Company, the Red Cross, the Odd Fellows, the Girl and Boy Scouts, would be given an opportunity to again make the march to the cemetery.

As in the past years, Cpl. Ray Dunn and Trooper Charles Teclon of the State Police, were standing by to lead the procession and to keep traffic conditions under control.

Woodstock Post Salutes Dead

Legion Auxiliary Meeting Is Held

Woodstock, June 1—The Woodstock unit 1026, American Legion Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting at the Legion Hall, Wednesday evening with Mrs. G. Alfred Nussbaum president, conducting the meeting.

A $5 donation was voted for the Cerebral Palsy drive.

Mrs. Clarence Snyder reported on the meeting of the Woodstock War Memorial Committee which was held on May 25. A $5 donation was voted toward the upkeep of the war memorial on the village green.

As part of its community service project the Auxiliary will present $5 to the boy graduate and $5 to the girl graduate, who in the opinion of a committee to be chosen among the teachers in the Woodstock School, have done the most for their community during their grammar school years. These awards will be presented at the graduation exercises of the Woodstock School in June.

The coupon chairman reported 207 regular and 80 miscellaneous coupons for the month.

A food sale will be held in the near future, place and date to be announced later.

Legionnaires will place plants presented by the Auxiliary on all graves of Legion members and Auxiliary members in the Woodstock Cemetery.

The Auxiliary will take part, along with the Legion Post in the Memorial Day parade and exercises to be held May 30.

The Auxiliary entertained the County Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary on Thursday evening, at the Woodstock Methodist Church Hall.

Refreshments were served by the committee for May, Miss Florence Peper and Mrs. Clayton Harder.

New Paltz Village Board Meeting

New Paltz, June 1—New Paltz will be using water from its new wells within a week if plans continue according to schedule, Mayor Reid announced at the Village Board meeting.

Trustee Robert Jansen, chairman of the street committee, reported that repairs are being done on several streets. Elting avenue, a part of Huguenot street, Southside avenue and prospect street are the streets affected. Prospect street was blocked to traffic from Main out as the old surface is being plowed up.

A new road has been opened and rough graded. Fulton road connects with North Manheim and Oakwood terrace. This road was opened through the cooperation of the Town and Village Boards and Harold Titus, contractor, who is building houses in this area. The Village line runs down the street. Property on the south is in the village, property on the north in the Town.

A tax anticipation note for $6,000 was approved to meet current expenses until tax money comes in next month. Tax bills were mailed this weekend.

The Democratic Club asked the Board's permission to use the Municipal building for their monthly meetings. Permission was given for the June 10 meeting but approval for regular use was postponed.

Citizens of North Chestnut street presented a petition to the Board complaining about the condition of a vacant lot. A request was made that it be cleaned up as it is a nuisance and a health hazard. The letter was turned over to the village attorney, David Corwin.

The League of Women Voters wrote a letter asking for permission to attend and report on the meetings as part of their study in local government. All members approved the request and Mayor Reid extended an invitation to any resident of the village interested in attending the meetings.

The Police Department has been reorganized. Harold Smith resigned and William Thompson was rehired. Relief officers will be Ernest Ahlberg, Alvin Beatty and Carleton Krom.

A list of fire truck drivers was presented to the Board for approval by Chief Ike Pole. A request for fighting equipment was approved.

The Eendracht Club of the Reformed Church held a picnic supper meeting around the fireplace in the church yard on Sunday evening, May 24. An evaluation discussion was conducted to make plans for the coming year. Two delegates will attend the Student Christian Movement conference at Camp Dudley on Lake Champlain from the group.

The Youth Fellowship met at 7 p. m. in the church. Pat Will led a discussion on A Christian View of the McCarthy Investigation. Gertrude Dippel was in charge of the worship program. A report was given that 14 members had attended the Oakwood Rally in Kingston and that the same number is expected to attend the Oakwood Conference in Poughkeepsie.

The Junior and Youth Choirs held a picnic in the church yard on Thursday, May 28, at 6 o'clock. Rehearsal followed in the social room at 7 p. m.

The Children's Day program on June 7 will have the theme The One Story.

The Church World Service held an all day sewing meeting on Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The Dutch Guild has made a study of the necessary changes in the church kitchen. The plans have been approved by the four Guild groups and they have been turned over to the Consistory for acceptance. The consistory met on Tuesday, May 26. The Kerk League will provide the new stoves.

Miss Esther Bensley, local artist, has presented four pottery flower holders of her own creation and design to the Dutch Guild for use in table arrangements.

Members of the Art Association have been given large boards for signs by the Historical Society. Views of the old stone houses will be painted on them by the artists and they will be used to guide visitors to the houses on Huguenot street.

Garden Club Officers

New Paltz, June 1—Mrs. Andrew Deyo was re-elected president of the Garden Club on Friday at the monthly meeting held at Mrs. Hoyt's in Wallkill. Mrs. Charles Huntington was re-elected vice president; Mrs. O. L. Harding was re-elected treasurer and Mrs. Kenneth Phillips was elected secretary.

Members took their own suppers and beverage was provided by the hostess. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Douglas was visited after supper to see the variety of shrubs and trees in their garden.

Garden week will be observed in June at Mohonk. Plans are underway for this event.

Library Plant Sale

The Library Plant sale was very successful in spite of the rain which interrupted it on Tuesday afternoon. The sale was continued the following day. Many beautiful perennials and shrubs were sold at moderate prices. Orders were taken for iris from the flowers displayed. Well over fifty dollars was added to the library fund from the sale.

Study Club

The New Paltz Study Club will end its activities for the summer with a garden party on June 2 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Wright on Modena road.

Since this date is coronation day in England, Mrs. Ilene Compton, who spent last year in England as an exchange teacher will be the speaker. Mrs. Compton will relate experiences apropos to the day's events in England.

Follow Rules—Avoid Trouble

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please decide this play for our group," requests a Miami correspondent. "We have a house rule that you cannot discard a wild card unless you have nothing but wild cards in your hand. This rule caused all the trouble in a recent game.

"My hand consisted of two aces and two wild cards at a late stage of a particular hand. I drew a card from the stock pile, and that card happened to be a third ace. I didn't want to discard an ace since that would surely give the pack away to the next player.

"Therefore I put down three aces, leaving only two wild cards in my hand. Then I discarded one of those two wild cards.

"This started the discussion. The opponents said I should have discarded one of the aces. I claimed that the rule said nothing about this point. The rule says that you are allowed to discard a wild card only when your hand contains nothing but wild cards at the time of your discard.

"The rule doesn't prohibit you from putting yourself deliberately into a position in which you have only wild cards in your hand.

"Who is right?"

As in the case of most arguments over "house" rules, there isn't any way to decide who is right. The rule isn't clearly stated, and the only way to settle the argument is to toss a coin or take a vote.

But since this situation may arise again, let me make a suggestion. Decide beforehand what should be allowed in cases of this sort. Then state the rule in one of these two ways:

1. A player may discard a wild card only if his hand contains nothing but wild cards at the time that he must choose a discard. (This permits him to meld deliberately in such a way as to leave only wild cards in his hand.)

2. A player may discard a wild card only if his hand contains nothing but wild cards when he begins to meld at that turn. (This does not permit the player to meld a natural card and thus leaves himself with only wild cards for a discard.)

Either rule is playable, and if you must follow this peculiar "house" rule you should take your choice. Better still, however, forget all about that house rule and follow the official rule—that you are allowed to discard a wild card at your turn no matter what cards you may have in your hand. The official rule leads to a far better game.

China Wants More Grain

Hong Kong (AP) — The Chinese Communist regime has called upon its farmers to produce more grain and its consumers to eat less. This was to enable China to build up a grain stockpile necessary to its Five Year Industrialization Plan, according to the party newspaper, the Peiping People's Daily. Peiping also told the farmers not to divert any more acreage from grain to cotton. Government cotton prices have been cut and grain prices boosted. The Reds have subsidized cotton during the last three years and now anticipate some trouble in reversing the trend.

"My hand consisted of two aces and two wild cards at a late stage of a particular hand. I drew a card from the stock pile, and that card happened to be a third ace. I didn't want to discard an ace since that would surely give the pack away to the next player.

"Therefore I put down three aces, leaving only two wild cards in my hand. Then I discarded one of those two wild cards.

"This started the discussion. The opponents said I should have discarded one of the aces. I claimed that the rule said nothing about this point. The rule says that you are allowed to discard a wild card only when your hand contains nothing but wild cards at the time of your discard.

"The rule doesn't prohibit you from putting yourself deliberately into a position in which you have only wild cards in your hand.

"Who is right?"

As in the case of most arguments over "house" rules, there isn't any way to decide who is right. The rule isn't clearly stated, and the only way to settle the argument is to toss a coin or take a vote.

But since this situation may arise again, let me make a suggestion. Decide beforehand what should be allowed in cases of this sort. Then state the rule in one of these two ways:

1. A player may discard a wild card only if his hand contains nothing but wild cards at the time that he must choose a discard. (This permits him to meld deliberately in such a way as to leave only wild cards in his hand.)

2. A player may discard a wild card only if his hand contains nothing but wild cards when he begins to meld at that turn. (This does not permit the player to meld a natural card and thus leaves himself with only wild cards for a discard.)

Either rule is playable, and if you must follow this peculiar "house" rule you should take your choice. Better still, however, forget all about that house rule and follow the official rule—that you are allowed to discard a wild card at your turn no matter what cards you may have in your hand. The official rule leads to a far better game.

China Wants More Grain

Hong Kong (AP) — The Chinese Communist regime has called upon its farmers to produce more grain and its consumers to eat less. This was to enable China to build up a grain stockpile necessary to its Five Year Industrialization Plan, according to the party newspaper, the Peiping People's Daily. Peiping also told the farmers not to divert any more acreage from grain to cotton. Government cotton prices have been cut and grain prices boosted. The Reds have subsidized cotton during the last three years and now anticipate some trouble in reversing the trend.

Officer Says He Was Offered Cut By Po'keepsie Man

Taegu, Korea, June 2 (AP)—An air force postal officer testified today that S/Sgt. Giuseppe Cascio told him of plans to get secret air force information from Far East Headquarters in Tokyo and sell it to the Communists.

The testimony was given by Lt. William L. Murphy of Drexel Hill, Pa., who said Cascio told him of the plan last Aug. 24 in Taegu.

Cascio went on trial today before a general court martial on charges of conspiring to give the Communists secret information about the American Sabre jet fighter plane.

The stocky, 34-year-old defendant appeared nervous and restless while Murphy testified.

Murphy said he pretended to cooperate with the defendant at the request of the Air Force Secret Investigation Department of the Office of Special Investigation.

Friend in Headquarters

Cascio told him, Murphy testified, that he had a friend in headquarters of the Far East Air Forces in Tokyo who would supply classified information for the sale to the Communists.

The friend Cascio referred to was arrested later, Murphy said. He has been found insane and evacuated to the United States.

First prosecution witness was T/Sgt. Joseph A. Bonner of North Levittown, Pa., who testified that Cascio approached him in July, 1952 and suggested Bonner participate in making out postal money orders for a third person.

Was Offered Cut, He Says

Bonner testified that Cascio offered him a cut of the money involved but said that he made no deal with the defendant.

Cascio, a native of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and later a resident of Tucson, Ariz., was a lieutenant in World War 2.

The air force charges Cascio "conspired to knowingly give intelligence to the enemy and that he did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons a classified military writing, to wit: A message classified as secret, containing flight test data on F-86E (Sabre jet) aircraft with reason to believe said writing would reach the enemy."

The army has never identified "the enemy."

"If declarer had been as tough as the opposition, the defensive efforts would have gone for naught. The simple expedient of ducking West's king of diamonds—a play which, incidentally, could hardly lose—would have done the business."

A very neat defense even though it required a slip on declarer's part. As usual, Mr. Stablein is perfectly correct: It pays to keep punching.

Will Hold Conference

A Child Health Conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Health Center in Allaben on June 8 from 2 to 4 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

Beneke Dies of Injuries

Seoul, June 1 (AP)—(Delayed by censor) Capt. Walter C. Beneke of Honolulu died early Monday of injuries suffered when his Sabre jet fighter-bomber crashed during a takeoff Sunday. Beneke, 31, was going on his 50th mission since joining the 18th Fighter-Bomber Wing in November, 1952. He was a flight commander. Beneke was pulled from the blazing plane by Lt. Col. Glenn Stell, Houston, Tex., and Second Lt. Joseph Conway of 30-37 49th street, Long Island City, N. Y.

Helen C. Hoffmann, Ulf Ramm Ericson Wed in Woodstock

Miss Helen Carol Hoffmann, daughter of Mrs. Henry Hoffmann of 117 East 77th street, New York, became the bride of Ulf Ramm Ericson of Red Bank, N. J., son of Mrs. Tora Bonnier of Perrysville, O., and Stockholm Sweden and Eric Ramm Ericson, Stockholm, Sweden, on Friday, May 29, at 3 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Katherine Burgevin, Woodstock.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herald Swezy, rector of the Church of the Ascension, West Park.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Robert Anthaine of New York, the bride wore a ballerina length white embroidered organdy gown with French blue underskirt and sash with French headdress of white rosebuds and a French veil. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Gertrude Gabalton of 170 East 79th street, New York, as matron of honor, wore a pink organdy gown with white and yellow English roses in a bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Anthaine, Miss Clair McIntyre of New York, Miss Jaye Dobbs, New York. They wore pastel colored gowns and wore spring flowers.

Simon Bonnier of Perrysville, O., was the best man. Ushers were John Reed, Hubert Finnerty and William McDonald, all of New York.

A reception for about 60 guests took place at the home of Mrs. Burgevin following the wedding ceremony. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Ericson left for a wedding trip through New England. They will make their future home in Red Bank, N. J.

Mrs. Ericson was educated at St. Agatha and Lenox School and Bennington College.

Mr. Ericson was graduated from the Stockholm Technical Institute and received his B.S. and M.A. Degrees from the Stanford University Engineering School at Palo Alto, Calif. He served in the Swedish Air Corps one year. He is employed as an engineer in New York.

8-Billions Cut Cited as '55 Goal

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Rowland R. Hughes, assistant budget director, says the Eisenhower Administration would like to cut federal spending by an additional eight billion dollars in the fiscal year starting 13 months from now.

That is fiscal 1955, the first year for which the new administration prepares a budget from scratch. It will be submitted in January.

For the coming fiscal year, starting July 1, the administration proposes to spend $74,100,000,000, as compared with the 78,600,000,000 recommended by former President Truman.

Appearing before the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday Hughes said the target for the following years is spending of 65 to 66 billions.

"Don't hold me to it," he said, "but that's what we are shooting at."

Will Receive BA Degree This Week

ROBERT E. BUCK

Robert E. Buck, son of John W. Buck, 11 Hone street, will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree with the June graduating class of Syracuse University this week. Mr. Buck majored in biology. He plans to attend the University of New Hampshire next fall and will specialize in bacteriology.

When the author, Daniel Defoe, found himself in debtor's prison, he wrote a tract on the virtues of thrift, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

New Paltz Child Suffers Injuries

Miss Donna Langwick, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langwick, 54 North Chestnut street, New Paltz, received minor injuries as a result of a two-car crash Monday about 5:19 p. m. at the intersection of Prospect and Liberty streets.

According to the police report automobiles driven by Ruth Langwick, 34, of the New Paltz address and John S. Stowell, Jr., of 152½ St. James street, were involved in the accident.

The police report listed injuries to the Langwick youngster as bruises on her back and right leg and a bump on her head.

The Langwick car, a 1941 sedan owned by Charles Langwick of New Paltz and driven by Ruth Langwick, was traveling south on Prospect street to Franklin street. The Stowell car, the report said, was traveling west on Liberty at the time of the mishap.

Police reported the Langwick car received damage to the left front fender while the Stowell car was damaged about the right front fender, bumper, light and left fender.

8-Billions Cut Cited as '55 Goal

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Rowland R. Hughes, assistant budget director, says the Eisenhower Administration would like to cut federal spending by an additional eight billion dollars in the fiscal year starting 13 months from now.

That is fiscal 1955, the first year for which the new administration prepares a budget from scratch. It will be submitted in January.

For the coming fiscal year, starting July 1, the administration proposes to spend $74,100,000,000, as compared with the 78,600,000,000 recommended by former President Truman.

Appearing before the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday Hughes said the target for the following years is spending of 65 to 66 billions.

"Don't hold me to it," he said, "but that's what we are shooting at."

One Man Is Graduated

Chicago, June 2 (AP)—John Killion was the only man among 148 graduates awarded bachelor and masters degrees at Rosary College in suburban River Forest Monday. Killion, of Aurora, Ill. received a masters of arts in library science degree.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People, etc.)

DAUGHTER TO MARRY IN JAPAN

A mother writes me: "My daughter is going to Japan to be married. Her fiance is already there on military duty. I would like to give a large reception before she leaves for our relatives and friends, to take the place of the one we would have given had she been married here. Would such a reception be proper, and if so, how should the invitations be worded? Also, could there be a wedding cake?"

You can, of course, give her a "send off" party of any size you choose, but you should wait until she is married and her husband and she can be present before giving her any form of wedding reception.

On the Use of Candles

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a lovely pair of five-branched sterling silver candleabra which I keep on the sideboard in the dining room when not in use. Should they be kept empty, filled with fresh candles, or left with the partially burned candles?

Answer: They should always have fresh candles in them when standing unlit. These may, however, be taken out and exchanged for the ones you are burning when lighted for your evening meal.

Uncle Takes Father's Place

Dear Mrs. Post: Due to illness, my father will not be present at my forthcoming wedding. My uncle will take his place in giving me away. I would like to know if he should be given a gift the same as the ushers and best man? I am very undecided about this and want to do the right thing.

Answer: It would be just as strange to reward him with a present as it would have been to reward your father.

Leaving the Table

Dear Mrs. Post: When rising from the table, is one supposed to push the chair back where one found it?

Answer: Usually you leave it where it is—unless it might be in someone's way.

How should the men in the bridal party be dressed for a formal evening wedding? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-3, "Clothes of the Bridal Party," answers this and other questions on formal weddings. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Daylight Standard

New York (AP) — With daylight saving time here again and the statistically minded have been scurrying into the records, to come up with the fact that there is a town named Daylight. It is in Tennessee. On the other side of the time situation, it was discovered that quite a few communities stick to standard, in fact Standard is their name. There are eight of them, located in Arizona, California, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Wawarsing Health Group Holds Final Meeting of Season

A final meeting for the season of the Wawarsing public health committee was held May 25 at the home of Mrs. Margaret Gonder, vice-chairman of Ellenville.

A movie was shown pertaining to the duties and help given by the nurses of the public health group.

Dr. Dudley Hargraves, commissioner of the Ulster County Health Department, spoke at length of the decline of communicable diseases and of the importance of the increased chronic diseases of the aged. He said "good health is not merely the absence of disease but also the presence of complete well-being."

Miss Esther Schisa, director of the nurses of the health department, spoke of the importance of the public health nurse in a community and said that Ulster county was better equipped with more nurses and finer cooperation than most counties.

Mrs. Steward demonstrated the making of pads for cancer patients.

Chairman of the loan closet is Mrs. Ann Wood while Mrs. Theresa Madden is chairman of the clinic; Mrs. Mary Bessler, assistant chairman.

Contents for the loan closet now urgently needed include ice bags, hot water bags, bed pans, sheets and pillow cases.

High School Nips Beacon, 6-5, to Stay Alive

Winds Up Today Hoping for Loss By Newburgh Nine

Bechtold, Telepas Win Weird One

Kingston High kept its DUSO League pennant chances alive by scoring two runs in the seventh to shade Beacon High, 6-5, Monday in a loosely-played thriller at the Beacon diamond.

The Burkemen close out their 1953 campaign against Middletown at 4 p. m. today at municipal stadium.

In order to have a chance, the Maroons must beat the Middies, while the league-leading Newburgh Academy drops one of its remaining contests to Beacon or Poughkeepsie.

Trailing 4-1 Beacon caused the departure of Bruce Bechtold in the sixth when they scored four times. Bechtold was lifted with runners on second and third and nobody out in favor of George Telepas.

Shoddy fielding enabled Beacon to score those two runners and another pair, all unearned, before the Gorgeous Greek put out the fire. Telepas then turned back the Beaconites in order in the bottom of the seventh after Kingston forged ahead 6-5 in the top of the frame.

Bechtold Effective

Until the fateful sixth, Bechtold had been nearly airtight. He faced the minimum of three batters in every inning except the second when Ruff led off with a home run for the home club.

Kingston collected 11 hits off O'Leary and Tony Komisar. The former was routed in the first inning and Komisar was the victim of Maroon rallies in the sixth and seventh.

Bechtold struck out five and didn't issue a pass. Telepas whiffed three and Komisar fanned eight.

Make Seven Errors

The Maroon total of seven errors was the highest for the season. Beacon, meanwhile, played errorless ball.

Johnny Armstrong pounded two singles and Palmer "Skipper" Brodhead hit a triple and single to pace the Kingston attack. Ruff singled in addition to his homer and O'Leary, the starting pitcher, cracked two singles for the losers.

Coach Burke had Telepas and southpaw Frank Reis available for the Middies today. Reis blanked the Middletown squad, 7-0, last week and was expected to get a second chance.

Schoendienst George Kell Bat Leaders

New York, June 2 (AP)—Switch-hitting Al (Red) Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, who swings equally well from either side of the plate, has spurted to the top of the National League batting race with a .371 average.

In the American League, George Kell of the Boston Red Sox has regained the lead from Washington's Mickey Vernon and is hitting .367. Fgures include Sunday's games.

Schoendienst, second last week, displaced Philadelphia's Johnny Wyrostek, who skidded to third place behind Jim Greengrass of the Cincinnati Redlegs. The slender Red Bird second baseman went 13-for-32 last week and gained eight points.

Greengrass, like Schoendienst, also collected 13 hits in 32 trips and moved into the runnerup spot with a .362 mark. Wyrostek had four hits in 14 at bats and his average dipped 12 points to .358, ten points ahead of teammate Richie Ashburn at .348. Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves climbed from eight to fifth with a .331 average.

Despite an ailing back, Kell again forged to the front of the American League batting derby. The stocky veteran, seeing limited service, had five hits in ten trips to raise his average 11 points.

Vernon, in relinquishing the lead, fell to second at .339. Cleveland's Al Rosen vaulted from fifth to third with a .338 mark. Philadelphia's Pete Suder dropped from third to fourth with .331 and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees fell from fourth to fifth at .327.

Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers continues as the National League pace-setter in both home runs with 17 and runs batted in with 54. Rosen is the American League home run leader with ten, while Clyde Vollmer of the Washington Senators is tops in RBI's with 33.

Dodgers Gain First Win; Tigers Halt Tribe, 10-9

Hobart Armstrong Hits First Homer

The status quo returned to the American Little League yesterday.

The 1952 champion Dodgers blasted the Giants, 7 to 1, for their first victory in three starts. George Uhl pitched a beautiful two-hitter, fanning six and walking three.

But the big story was the return to home run form by Hobart Armstrong. The Dodger first sacker powered one of the longest home runs in Little League history in the fifth inning.

Armstrong's clout soared over the left field fence and rolled across Kiersted avenue onto the front lawn of a neighboring residence.

Charlie Williams, the Dodger shortstop and No. 3 hitter, slammed two singles and Armstrong had a single in addition to his homer. Tom Ashdown, Garry Barnes and Jim Dickson picked up the remainder of the hits off Tom Bradford.

The two Giant safeties were a double by Joe Schrowang and Jay Neer's single. Timmy Fisher, Giants right fielder, was credited with the fielding play of the game.

The Dodgers go right back at it again this evening against the league leading Yankees, who have won three straight.

Chavez Wins

San Francisco, June 2 (AP)—Eddie Chavez, 138½, San Jose, won a technical decision over Armand Savoie, 135, Canadian lightweight champion from Montreal, last night when Chavez suffered a bad forehead cut from an accidental butt in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round fight. The San Jose lightweight, a 2-1 favorite, was ahead on points when the incident occurred.

Kruzenski Fans 12; Levy, Spadafora Star

The Indians were finally scalped in the National Little League.

It was quite a struggle for the Tigers, but they made it, 10-9, on the strength of a fast start and Don Kruzenski rally after the Indians had raked him for nine runs in the fourth and fifth frames.

Led by Abe Levy, the Tigers ran up a 7-0 lead in the first three innings before the Indians crashed through for a trio in the fourth. The Bengals scored four times in the fifth. Kruzenski was severely jolted for six in the fifth but recovered in time to stop the rush at six runs. Neither team scored in the final frame.

Fans 12 Batters

Kruzenski fanned 12 and had two of the Tigers' nine hits off Avnet and Estroff. Levy shared batting honors with Ray Spadafora, each with a double and two singles.

Jack Fisher and Frank Cavano rapped two singles each for the Indians. William Murphy and Norman Heppner had the other Indian safeties.

For the Tigers, Bill Rodden, Gene Spada, Harold Hart and Charlie Blanschan collected singles.

Shurter, Murdock Race at Arlington

United Stock Car Racing Club drivers, including Larry Shurter of West Shokan and Bill Murdock of Kingston, swing into action Wednesday at Arlington Speedway.

Rated off his initial performance, Joe Campanella of Thornwood, N. J. appears to be the man to beat.

Doug Benjamin and Ted Seabiscuit, two veteran aces, will join Murdock and Shurter in the frontal assault on Campanella.

First race is scheduled at 8:30, with a 25-lap grind for the main event.

Vince Martinez, Coley Wallace, Patterson Here

Three outstanding ring personalities — Vince Martinez, Coley Wallace and Floyd Patterson, former Olympic champion, will be guests of the Glasco Athletic Club at the Thursday, June 4, amateur boxing show at the municipal auditorium.

Arrangements for the appearance of Wallace and Patterson were completed by the Richards Farms training camp of Esopus, where Wallace and Patterson will settle this week.

Martinez, of Paterson, N. J., is the latest darling of the TV network. He has established a training camp at Haines Falls and will work out at the Richards Farms later on.

Patterson Scores KO

Wallace, former New York Golden Gloves champion, who made frequent appearances in Kingston as an amateur, is rated among the top ten heavyweight contenders. He recently completed a movie in which he portrayed the role of Joe Louis in the life story of the famous Brown Bomber.

Patterson, 19-year-old Brooklynite who won the Olympic middleweight crown at Helsinki last summer, gained his seventh straight victory as a professional last night when he stopped Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont. in the third round of a scheduled eight-round feature bout at Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn.

Patterson sent his foe to the canvas once in the first round, twice in the second and once again in the third before Referee Ray Miller halted the bout. The end came in 52 seconds of the session.

Marciano Prefers Roland La Starza for Next Title Defense

Brockton, Mass., June 2 (AP)—Heavyweight king Rocky Marciano—home for the first time since he knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in Chicago May 15—says his planned exhibition tour of the Philippines and Korea is off.

"We called off the tour," he said last night, "because it would take too much time. It would be too close to the next fight. I'd like to go but I'm afraid it would be too much for me, everything taken into consideration."

Asked whether he'd rather fight Roland La Starza or ex-champion Ezzard Charles, Rocky said:

"Well, I'm going to fight both of them eventually, but I think I'd rather fight La Starza first. We had a very close fight the last time we met and I'd sorta like to see how much I've improved. (Marciano won a close decision). Then I figure I'll be signed to fight Charles."

100-Lap Feature Slated Saturday

Postponed because of rain on Memorial Day, the 100-lap Eastern Hardtop stock car championship race will be held at the Rhinebeck Speedway on Saturday, June 6.

The big race will start with at least 24 cars entered, including such favorites as Bud Hitsman, Stan, Bob and Pinky Disbrow, Duke Southern, Doug Benjamin, Doug Garrison, George Welch and Hal McCarty.

The Mutual Racing Club has announced that quadruple points will be awarded finishers, thus giving the drivers who have the equipment, physical stamina and good fortune to survive the 20-mile classic an additional boost toward the large point championship awards made at the end of the season.

Gay Abbe Winner

Westbury, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—Gay Abbe, owned by Edward O'Dowd of Pine Brook, N. J., took the lead on the far turn and went on to score a two-length victory last night in the Hicksville Pace at Roosevelt Raceway. This was Gay Abbe's third victory of the year. Ann Napoleon came fast to take second with Ginger Tass third. Time for the mile was 2:06.4. The winner returned $15.50 for $2.

High School Nips Beacon, 6-5, to Stay Alive

Winds Up Today Hoping for Loss By Newburgh Nine

Bechtold, Telepas Win Weird One

Kingston High kept its DUSO League pennant chances alive by scoring two runs in the seventh to shade Beacon High, 6-5, Monday in a loosely-played thriller at the Beacon diamond.

The Burkemen close out their 1953 campaign against Middletown at 4 p. m. today at municipal stadium.

In order to have a chance, the Maroons must beat the Middies, while the league-leading Newburgh Academy drops one of its remaining contests to Beacon or Poughkeepsie.

Trailing 4-1 Beacon caused the departure of Bruce Bechtold in the sixth when they scored four times. Bechtold was lifted with runners on second and third and nobody out in favor of George Telepas.

Shoddy fielding enabled Beacon to score those two runners and another pair, all unearned, before the Gorgeous Greek put out the fire. Telepas then turned back the Beaconites in order in the bottom of the seventh after Kingston forged ahead 6-5 in the top of the frame.

Bechtold Effective

Until the fateful sixth, Bechtold had been nearly airtight. He faced the minimum of three batters in every inning except the second when Ruff led off with a home run for the home club.

Kingston collected 11 hits off O'Leary and Tony Komisar. The former was routed in the first inning and Komisar was the victim of Maroon rallies in the sixth and seventh.

Bechtold struck out five and didn't issue a pass. Telepas whiffed three and Komisar fanned eight.

Make Seven Errors

The Maroon total of seven errors was the highest for the season. Beacon, meanwhile, played errorless ball.

Johnny Armstrong pounded two singles and Palmer "Skipper" Brodhead hit a triple and single to pace the Kingston attack. Ruff singled in addition to his homer and O'Leary, the starting pitcher, cracked two singles for the losers.

Coach Burke had Telepas and southpaw Frank Reis available for the Middies today. Reis blanked the Middletown squad, 7-0, last week and was expected to get a second chance.

Schoendienst George Kell Bat Leaders

New York, June 2 (AP)—Switch-hitting Al (Red) Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, who swings equally well from either side of the plate, has spurted to the top of the National League batting race with a .371 average.

In the American League, George Kell of the Boston Red Sox has regained the lead from Washington's Mickey Vernon and is hitting .367. Fgures include Sunday's games.

Schoendienst, second last week, displaced Philadelphia's Johnny Wyrostek, who skidded to third place behind Jim Greengrass of the Cincinnati Redlegs. The slender Red Bird second baseman went 13-for-32 last week and gained eight points.

Greengrass, like Schoendienst, also collected 13 hits in 32 trips and moved into the runnerup spot with a .362 mark. Wyrostek had four hits in 14 at bats and his average dipped 12 points to .358, ten points ahead of teammate Richie Ashburn at .348. Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves climbed from eight to fifth with a .331 average.

Despite an ailing back, Kell again forged to the front of the American League batting derby. The stocky veteran, seeing limited service, had five hits in ten trips to raise his average 11 points.

Vernon, in relinquishing the lead, fell to second at .339. Cleveland's Al Rosen vaulted from fifth to third with a .338 mark. Philadelphia's Pete Suder dropped from third to fourth with .331 and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees fell from fourth to fifth at .327.

Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers continues as the National League pace-setter in both home runs with 17 and runs batted in with 54. Rosen is the American League home run leader with ten, while Clyde Vollmer of the Washington Senators is tops in RBI's with 33.

Dodgers Gain First Win; Tigers Halt Tribe, 10-9

Hobart Armstrong Hits First Homer

The status quo returned to the American Little League yesterday.

The 1952 champion Dodgers blasted the Giants, 7 to 1, for their first victory in three starts. George Uhl pitched a beautiful two-hitter, fanning six and walking three.

But the big story was the return to home run form by Hobart Armstrong. The Dodger first sacker powered one of the longest home runs in Little League history in the fifth inning.

Armstrong's clout soared over the left field fence and rolled across Kiersted avenue onto the front lawn of a neighboring residence.

Charlie Williams, the Dodger shortstop and No. 3 hitter, slammed two singles and Armstrong had a single in addition to his homer. Tom Ashdown, Garry Barnes and Jim Dickson picked up the remainder of the hits off Tom Bradford.

The two Giant safeties were a double by Joe Schrowang and Jay Neer's single. Timmy Fisher, Giants right fielder, was credited with the fielding play of the game.

The Dodgers go right back at it again this evening against the league leading Yankees, who have won three straight.

Chavez Wins

San Francisco, June 2 (AP)—Eddie Chavez, 138½, San Jose, won a technical decision over Armand Savoie, 135, Canadian lightweight champion from Montreal, last night when Chavez suffered a bad forehead cut from an accidental butt in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round fight. The San Jose lightweight, a 2-1 favorite, was ahead on points when the incident occurred.

Kruzenski Fans 12; Levy, Spadafora Star

The Indians were finally scalped in the National Little League.

It was quite a struggle for the Tigers, but they made it, 10-9, on the strength of a fast start and Don Kruzenski rally after the Indians had raked him for nine runs in the fourth and fifth frames.

Led by Abe Levy, the Tigers ran up a 7-0 lead in the first three innings before the Indians crashed through for a trio in the fourth. The Bengals scored four times in the fifth. Kruzenski was severely jolted for six in the fifth but recovered in time to stop the rush at six runs. Neither team scored in the final frame.

Fans 12 Batters

Kruzenski fanned 12 and had two of the Tigers' nine hits off Avnet and Estroff. Levy shared batting honors with Ray Spadafora, each with a double and two singles.

Jack Fisher and Frank Cavano rapped two singles each for the Indians. William Murphy and Norman Heppner had the other Indian safeties.

For the Tigers, Bill Rodden, Gene Spada, Harold Hart and Charlie Blanschan collected singles.

Shurter, Murdock Race at Arlington

United Stock Car Racing Club drivers, including Larry Shurter of West Shokan and Bill Murdock of Kingston, swing into action Wednesday at Arlington Speedway.

Rated off his initial performance, Joe Campanella of Thornwood, N. J. appears to be the man to beat.

Doug Benjamin and Ted Seabiscuit, two veteran aces, will join Murdock and Shurter in the frontal assault on Campanella.

First race is scheduled at 8:30, with a 25-lap grind for the main event.

Vince Martinez, Coley Wallace, Patterson Here

Three outstanding ring personalities — Vince Martinez, Coley Wallace and Floyd Patterson, former Olympic champion, will be guests of the Glasco Athletic Club at the Thursday, June 4, amateur boxing show at the municipal auditorium.

Arrangements for the appearance of Wallace and Patterson were completed by the Richards Farms training camp of Esopus, where Wallace and Patterson will settle this week.

Martinez, of Paterson, N. J., is the latest darling of the TV network. He has established a training camp at Haines Falls and will work out at the Richards Farms later on.

Patterson Scores KO

Wallace, former New York Golden Gloves champion, who made frequent appearances in Kingston as an amateur, is rated among the top ten heavyweight contenders. He recently completed a movie in which he portrayed the role of Joe Louis in the life story of the famous Brown Bomber.

Patterson, 19-year-old Brooklynite who won the Olympic middleweight crown at Helsinki last summer, gained his seventh straight victory as a professional last night when he stopped Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont. in the third round of a scheduled eight-round feature bout at Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn.

Patterson sent his foe to the canvas once in the first round, twice in the second and once again in the third before Referee Ray Miller halted the bout. The end came in 52 seconds of the session.

Marciano Prefers Roland La Starza for Next Title Defense

Brockton, Mass., June 2 (AP)—Heavyweight king Rocky Marciano—home for the first time since he knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in Chicago May 15—says his planned exhibition tour of the Philippines and Korea is off.

"We called off the tour," he said last night, "because it would take too much time. It would be too close to the next fight. I'd like to go but I'm afraid it would be too much for me, everything taken into consideration."

Asked whether he'd rather fight Roland La Starza or ex-champion Ezzard Charles, Rocky said:

"Well, I'm going to fight both of them eventually, but I think I'd rather fight La Starza first. We had a very close fight the last time we met and I'd sorta like to see how much I've improved. (Marciano won a close decision). Then I figure I'll be signed to fight Charles."

100-Lap Feature Slated Saturday

Postponed because of rain on Memorial Day, the 100-lap Eastern Hardtop stock car championship race will be held at the Rhinebeck Speedway on Saturday, June 6.

The big race will start with at least 24 cars entered, including such favorites as Bud Hitsman, Stan, Bob and Pinky Disbrow, Duke Southern, Doug Benjamin, Doug Garrison, George Welch and Hal McCarty.

The Mutual Racing Club has announced that quadruple points will be awarded finishers, thus giving the drivers who have the equipment, physical stamina and good fortune to survive the 20-mile classic an additional boost toward the large point championship awards made at the end of the season.

Gay Abbe Winner

Westbury, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—Gay Abbe, owned by Edward O'Dowd of Pine Brook, N. J., took the lead on the far turn and went on to score a two-length victory last night in the Hicksville Pace at Roosevelt Raceway. This was Gay Abbe's third victory of the year. Ann Napoleon came fast to take second with Ginger Tass third. Time for the mile was 2:06.4. The winner returned $15.50 for $2.

Flowing Gold Best Pleasure Horse at New Paltz Show

Flowing Gold, owned by the New Paltz Riding Stables, won the Pleasure Horse championship at the New Paltz Riding Club horse show on May 24.

The show attracted a heavy entry list and was pronounced highly successful by Miss Joan E. Charles, president of the sponsor club. Helen Freeman rode the winner in the Pleasure class.

Miss Charles was co-chairman for the show with Norman Whitmore, the club vice-president. J. Whitmore served as announcer and Eileen McFetridge was show secretary. The judges were Gerow Smiley and Lester Stag.

Nancy Ritterhauser was the ring stewardess and Dr. C. H. Hoppenstedt served as veterinarian. Proceeds of the show are used to maintain the riding stables at New Paltz which are operated by Al Manganero.

Saddle Pals Drill

The Ulster County Saddle Pals drill team staged a splendid exhibition that showed precision and uniqueness of handling horses as a unit. This western group went through various drills that greatly impressed the spectators.

The members of the drill team are Janet Mack, Eleanor Conner, Geraldine Deelwater, Joan Green, Margaret Voltz, Eleanor Roosa, Blair Cornish and Barbara Davenport.

The Reserve championship went to the Duke of Denmark, owned and ridden by Vals Echlin. The Stock Horse title went to Babe, owned by Blair Cornish who rode the winner.

Other horses that placed in the championship class with owners and riders were: third, Buck, Eleanor Roosa; fourth, Buck, Barbara Davenport; fifth, Twinkle, New Paltz Riding Club, Virginia Reboli; sixth, Queenie, Marge Voltz.

Reserve champion in stock horse class was Golden Bunny, Gerry Deelwater; others places, third, Smokey, Eleanor Conner; fourth, Lucky Golden Girl, Janet Mack; fifth, Prince, New Paltz Riding Stables, Bob Manganero; sixth, Golden Amber, Shirley Van Kleeck.

The Horsemanship Championship Class was won by Vals Echlin riding the Duke of Denmark; second in the Reserve championship was Flowing Gold ridden by Helen Freeman. Others that placed in this class were: third, Sandy (NPRS), Cathy Vett; fourth, Mike (NPRS), Mary Jacobson; fifth, Valentine (NPRS), Renie Burden; sixth, Lady (NPRS), Joan Charles.

Osterhoudt, Pino Fire 5-Hitter For Seventh Win

Coach Gruner's Nine Lost Only One Game

Kingston Jayvees closed out their 1953 baseball season by defeating the Beacon JVs, 7-2, behind the combined five-hit pitching of Osterhoudt and Pino, yesterday at Beacon.

The Maroons collected 10 hits—all well tagged singles—off Antalek and staged a four-run uprising in the sixth inning.

Coach Al Gruner used the reserves in the last two frames as the Jayvees wound up the season with an impressive record of 7 wins and one defeat.

Osterhoudt permitted only three hits and one run in the first five innings. Pino yielded two hits and a run in two rounds. Osterhoudt also shared batting honors with Culjak with two singles.

Critelli and Antaler each clubbed two singles and Haught, a Beacon reserve, was credited with a double for the only extra base hit of the game.

The locals staked Osterhoudt to a 4-0 lead at the end of four innings and he bowed out after yielding a single run in the fifth. It was his first win of the season as against one loss.

In winning seven out of eight, Coach Gruner's tossers scored 60 runs on 61 hits.

Farina Grabs District Open Golf Berth

Armand Farina, popular Schenectady professional who scorched the Woodstock Country Club layout with a 29 last year, has won the Northeastern PGA qualifying berth for the U. S. Open.

Farina made the grade against 30 NPGA pros yesterday with a 78-71-149 score at Albany.

Alex Gerlak, of Twaalfskill Club, the 1952 qualifier from this area, did not compete. Gerlak also passed the PGA qualifying round two weeks ago.

New York State qualified 29 men, with Mickey Homa of Rye, N. Y. leading the group with a 72-68-140. Notable among the New York failures was the virtually complete collapse of the famous Turnesa golfing family. Mike, Willie, Joe and Joe, Jr., all were eliminated in the New York city area competition.

Only Jim Turnesa, the PGA champion, automatically escaped the first cutdown, is still in the running. Herman Barron of White Plains was squeezed out at Mamaroneck.

Big time casualties included Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.; Dick Chapman, former British and U. S. amateur champion; Jim McHale.

Butte, Mont.—Basil Marie, 138, Philadelphia, outpointed Doug Kirby, 135, San Francisco, 10.

New York—Ben Hogan, three-time winner of the U. S. Open golf champion, filed his entry for the British Open tournament.

Boudreau Willing To Talk Trades

Boston, June 2 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau said he's going to talk trade with every team his Red Sox meet on their 15-game western swing which opens tonight against Cleveland.

"I don't know what can be done," he said, but we're definitely interested in making a deal before the June 15 trading deadline."

His slumping Red Sox tumbled into the second division last Sunday as the Washington Nationals belted them in both ends of a twinbill. Boston dropped four games of a five-game set to the Nats. They won only two of eight games on an eastern swing against New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Ben Hogan Will Play in First British Open Tourney July 6

New York, June 2 (AP)—Ben Hogan is going to play in his first British Open golf tournament next month—if he can get a hotel reservation.

"I've had my entry cabled in and I'd like to play," the 40-year-old Texan said last night before leaving for Pittsburgh to shoot for his fourth U. S. Open title, "but there are some commitments I must get out of and I have to get a hotel reservation.

"The hotel problem has me worried. There is one hotel in the vicinity of the course and I understand it is filled up. If I can't get in, I can't play."

The British tournament will be held at Carnoustie, Scotland, just across the bay from St. Andrews, July 6-10.

Although he has won three U. S. Opens, two PGA and two Masters championships and is generally rated the greatest golfer of the era, Ben has never played in a British event. His only trip to England was as non-playing captain of the U. S. Ryder cup team in 1949, right after his near fatal auto accident.

"I decided I'd play in the British Open because so many people have been urging me to do so," Hogan said. "Also, I've always wanted to try out their different playing conditions over there.

"I'd like to see how I can do with the smaller ball and on those greens. You know, when playing over there, you don't pitch to the greens as we do here. You have to pitch short and let the ball run."

Dick Howard Hits 633 in Mixed Loop

Dick Howard and Eleanor Singer tossed the top triples in the Sangi Mixed League last night, the former pounding 234-210-189-633 and the latter pacing the distaff department with 202-150-183-535.

Max Chirlin trailed Howard with 201-203-582 and Chris Robinson fired 217-559. Other top shooters were Mitzie Arlensky 204-210-558; Jack Martin 220-553; P. Relly 201-524 and Tony Van Gonsic 501.

Kay Roosa shot 528; Ada Markle 487 and M. Davis 470.

Team results:

New York—Pat Abbott of Memphis shot a five-under-par 69-66—135 to lead 268 qualifiers for the U. S. Open.

Bob Dederick Smashes 635 In the Classic

Bob Dederick's 635, 224-227-184, was the best of six "600" series compiled by the Summer Classic keglers last night at the Bowlodrome.

Runnerup Larry Petersen slammed 224-220-634 and Tommy Amato 220-218 and John Ferraro 206-226 tied with 630s. Larry Weishaupt hit for 208-235-628 and George Shufeldt clipped 205-210-604.

Others in the top bracket included Fred J. Schryver 219-587; Cliff Davis 224-574; Buster Ferraro 200-571; Bill Schabot 200-566; Whitey Crispell 563; Joe Ausanio 204-204-563 and Ad Jones 562. Charlies Mantro fired a 223.

Lapine-Hankinson, Winters And Daley Capture Two-Ball

Share Net Lead With 71 at Wiltwyck

Two teams tied with net scores of 71 in Wiltwyck Golf Club's first mixed two-ball foursome tournament of the season Sunday, as the weathermen relented after raining out the scheduled Flag Day tournament on Memorial Day.

Mrs. William Lapine and Stan Hankinson and Mrs. James Winters-Bob Daley tied with net 71s.

Best score gross of 93 was turned in by the team of Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and Mrs. Robert Daley.

The Lapine-Hankinson combined grossed 102 and had a 31 handicap. Mrs. Winters and Bob Daley grossed 96 with a 25 handicap.

The competition was unusually close, with two teams tied for low net and three others finishing within two strokes of the leaders. Mrs. J. Watson Bailey and Ernest LeFevre posted low net of 72. Scores of 73 were credited to Mrs. Robert Daley-Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and the Mrs. Frances Prior-Maurice Davenport tandem.

Tournament chairman, Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., reported today that early entries indicate a large turnout for the fourth annual Member Guest tournament on Saturday and Sunday. Members are requested to list their guests as soon as possible.

The results:

Mrs. James Winters-Bob Daley, 96-25-71.

Mrs. William Lapine-Stan Hankinson, 102-31-71.

Mrs. J. W. Bailey-Ernest LeFevre, 95-23-72.

Flowing Gold Best Pleasure Horse at New Paltz Show

Flowing Gold, owned by the New Paltz Riding Stables, won the Pleasure Horse championship at the New Paltz Riding Club horse show on May 24.

The show attracted a heavy entry list and was pronounced highly successful by Miss Joan E. Charles, president of the sponsor club. Helen Freeman rode the winner in the Pleasure class.

Miss Charles was co-chairman for the show with Norman Whitmore, the club vice-president. J. Whitmore served as announcer and Eileen McFetridge was show secretary. The judges were Gerow Smiley and Lester Stag.

Nancy Ritterhauser was the ring stewardess and Dr. C. H. Hoppenstedt served as veterinarian. Proceeds of the show are used to maintain the riding stables at New Paltz which are operated by Al Manganero.

Saddle Pals Drill

The Ulster County Saddle Pals drill team staged a splendid exhibition that showed precision and uniqueness of handling horses as a unit. This western group went through various drills that greatly impressed the spectators.

The members of the drill team are Janet Mack, Eleanor Conner, Geraldine Deelwater, Joan Green, Margaret Voltz, Eleanor Roosa, Blair Cornish and Barbara Davenport.

The Reserve championship went to the Duke of Denmark, owned and ridden by Vals Echlin. The Stock Horse title went to Babe, owned by Blair Cornish who rode the winner.

Other horses that placed in the championship class with owners and riders were: third, Buck, Eleanor Roosa; fourth, Buck, Barbara Davenport; fifth, Twinkle, New Paltz Riding Club, Virginia Reboli; sixth, Queenie, Marge Voltz.

Reserve champion in stock horse class was Golden Bunny, Gerry Deelwater; others places, third, Smokey, Eleanor Conner; fourth, Lucky Golden Girl, Janet Mack; fifth, Prince, New Paltz Riding Stables, Bob Manganero; sixth, Golden Amber, Shirley Van Kleeck.

The Horsemanship Championship Class was won by Vals Echlin riding the Duke of Denmark; second in the Reserve championship was Flowing Gold ridden by Helen Freeman. Others that placed in this class were: third, Sandy (NPRS), Cathy Vett; fourth, Mike (NPRS), Mary Jacobson; fifth, Valentine (NPRS), Renie Burden; sixth, Lady (NPRS), Joan Charles.

Osterhoudt, Pino Fire 5-Hitter For Seventh Win

Coach Gruner's Nine Lost Only One Game

Kingston Jayvees closed out their 1953 baseball season by defeating the Beacon JVs, 7-2, behind the combined five-hit pitching of Osterhoudt and Pino, yesterday at Beacon.

The Maroons collected 10 hits—all well tagged singles—off Antalek and staged a four-run uprising in the sixth inning.

Coach Al Gruner used the reserves in the last two frames as the Jayvees wound up the season with an impressive record of 7 wins and one defeat.

Osterhoudt permitted only three hits and one run in the first five innings. Pino yielded two hits and a run in two rounds. Osterhoudt also shared batting honors with Culjak with two singles.

Critelli and Antaler each clubbed two singles and Haught, a Beacon reserve, was credited with a double for the only extra base hit of the game.

The locals staked Osterhoudt to a 4-0 lead at the end of four innings and he bowed out after yielding a single run in the fifth. It was his first win of the season as against one loss.

In winning seven out of eight, Coach Gruner's tossers scored 60 runs on 61 hits.

Farina Grabs District Open Golf Berth

Armand Farina, popular Schenectady professional who scorched the Woodstock Country Club layout with a 29 last year, has won the Northeastern PGA qualifying berth for the U. S. Open.

Farina made the grade against 30 NPGA pros yesterday with a 78-71-149 score at Albany.

Alex Gerlak, of Twaalfskill Club, the 1952 qualifier from this area, did not compete. Gerlak also passed the PGA qualifying round two weeks ago.

New York State qualified 29 men, with Mickey Homa of Rye, N. Y. leading the group with a 72-68-140. Notable among the New York failures was the virtually complete collapse of the famous Turnesa golfing family. Mike, Willie, Joe and Joe, Jr., all were eliminated in the New York city area competition.

Only Jim Turnesa, the PGA champion, automatically escaped the first cutdown, is still in the running. Herman Barron of White Plains was squeezed out at Mamaroneck.

Big time casualties included Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.; Dick Chapman, former British and U. S. amateur champion; Jim McHale.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Holyoke, Mass.—Jose Ramos, 128½, Puerto Rico, outpointed Tito Valles, 129½, New York, 8.

San Francisco—Eddie Chavez, 138½, San Jose, Calif., stopped Armand Savoie, 135, Montreal, 9.

Butte, Mont.—Basil Marie, 138, Philadelphia, outpointed Doug Kirby, 135, San Francisco, 10.

New York—Ben Hogan, three-time winner of the U. S. Open golf champion, filed his entry for the British Open tournament.

Boudreau Willing To Talk Trades

Boston, June 2 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau said he's going to talk trade with every team his Red Sox meet on their 15-game western swing which opens tonight against Cleveland.

"I don't know what can be done," he said, but we're definitely interested in making a deal before the June 15 trading deadline."

His slumping Red Sox tumbled into the second division last Sunday as the Washington Nationals belted them in both ends of a twinbill. Boston dropped four games of a five-game set to the Nats. They won only two of eight games on an eastern swing against New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Ben Hogan Will Play in First British Open Tourney July 6

New York, June 2 (AP)—Ben Hogan is going to play in his first British Open golf tournament next month—if he can get a hotel reservation.

"I've had my entry cabled in and I'd like to play," the 40-year-old Texan said last night before leaving for Pittsburgh to shoot for his fourth U. S. Open title, "but there are some commitments I must get out of and I have to get a hotel reservation.

"The hotel problem has me worried. There is one hotel in the vicinity of the course and I understand it is filled up. If I can't get in, I can't play."

The British tournament will be held at Carnoustie, Scotland, just across the bay from St. Andrews, July 6-10.

Although he has won three U. S. Opens, two PGA and two Masters championships and is generally rated the greatest golfer of the era, Ben has never played in a British event. His only trip to England was as non-playing captain of the U. S. Ryder cup team in 1949, right after his near fatal auto accident.

"I decided I'd play in the British Open because so many people have been urging me to do so," Hogan said. "Also, I've always wanted to try out their different playing conditions over there.

"I'd like to see how I can do with the smaller ball and on those greens. You know, when playing over there, you don't pitch to the greens as we do here. You have to pitch short and let the ball run."

Dick Howard Hits 633 in Mixed Loop

Dick Howard and Eleanor Singer tossed the top triples in the Sangi Mixed League last night, the former pounding 234-210-189-633 and the latter pacing the distaff department with 202-150-183-535.

Max Chirlin trailed Howard with 201-203-582 and Chris Robinson fired 217-559. Other top shooters were Mitzie Arlensky 204-210-558; Jack Martin 220-553; P. Relly 201-524 and Tony Van Gonsic 501.

Kay Roosa shot 528; Ada Markle 487 and M. Davis 470.

Team results:

Team No. 6 (3), Team No. 8 (0); Bowery Dugout 3, DD Drive-In 0; Tea, No. 2 (2), Cherny Keglers 1; Tea No. 3 (2), DeLuca Cleaners 1.

New York—Pat Abbott of Memphis shot a five-under-par 69-66—135 to lead 268 qualifiers for the U. S. Open.

Bob Dederick Smashes 635 In the Classic

Bob Dederick's 635, 224-227-184, was the best of six "600" series compiled by the Summer Classic keglers last night at the Bowlodrome.

Runnerup Larry Petersen slammed 224-220-634 and Tommy Amato 220-218 and John Ferraro 206-226 tied with 630s. Larry Weishaupt hit for 208-235-628 and George Shufeldt clipped 205-210-604.

Others in the top bracket included Fred J. Schryver 219-587; Cliff Davis 224-574; Buster Ferraro 200-571; Bill Schabot 200-566; Whitey Crispell 563; Joe Ausanio 204-204-563 and Ad Jones 562. Charlies Mantro fired a 223.

Whitey's Drive-In powered 949-1042-1054 for the 3054 series and Goodyear Shoe Repair totalled 3071 with 1011-1081 and 989.

Team results:

Lapine-Hankinson, Winters And Daley Capture Two-Ball

Share Net Lead With 71 at Wiltwyck

Two teams tied with net scores of 71 in Wiltwyck Golf Club's first mixed two-ball foursome tournament of the season Sunday, as the weathermen relented after raining out the scheduled Flag Day tournament on Memorial Day.

Mrs. William Lapine and Stan Hankinson and Mrs. James Winters-Bob Daley tied with net 71s.

Best score gross of 93 was turned in by the team of Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and Mrs. Robert Daley.

The Lapine-Hankinson combined grossed 102 and had a 31 handicap. Mrs. Winters and Bob Daley grossed 96 with a 25 handicap.

The competition was unusually close, with two teams tied for low net and three others finishing within two strokes of the leaders. Mrs. J. Watson Bailey and Ernest LeFevre posted low net of 72. Scores of 73 were credited to Mrs. Robert Daley-Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and the Mrs. Frances Prior-Maurice Davenport tandem.

Tournament chairman, Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., reported today that early entries indicate a large turnout for the fourth annual Member Guest tournament on Saturday and Sunday. Members are requested to list their guests as soon as possible.

The results:

Mrs. James Winters-Bob Daley, 96-25-71.

Mrs. William Lapine-Stan Hankinson, 102-31-71.

Mrs. J. W. Bailey-Ernest LeFevre, 95-23-72.

WITH A SAVINGS BANK TO SWING IT

You'd be surprised how many homes in your neighborhood are financed with the help of a Savings Bank Mortgage Loan!

Year after year the Savings Banks lead all types of investors in New York State both in the number of home mortgage loans and in the total amount of dollars so invested.

Such loans are made possible by the deposits in these mutual Savings Banks of nearly ten million people—two out of three in New York State.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In July of 1919 I ran across the following in The Kingston Freeman and Journal which I thought may interest local fishermen. "Relative to the appeal of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association, to keep carp out of the Ashokan reservoir, Game Protector Fred DeWitt called attention today to Section 250 of the Conservation law, which states: "No person shall put or place in any of the public waters of the state, fish commonly known as carp, nor shall any person put or place the spawn of such fish or use such fish as bait in the water thereof." The purpose of this section is to protect other fish that inhabit such water. By keeping carp out of these waters, the sport is kept up to the standard. Does that mean that carp is a war-like fish or what.

One of the advertisements in the July 1, 1919 Freeman of the Rose-Gorman-Rose store covered electric light bulbs which read as follows: "The kind that use little current and give good light. Tungsten lamps, for electric lights, guaranteed for 1,000 hours burning." In those days a 10 watt size of the above type cost 35 cents and a 100 watt cost 85 cents. The store also sold "gas filled nitrogen bulbs" which gave a "brilliant light." That type in the 100 watt size cost $1.10 and the 200 watt $1.95.

I wonder if I dare mention a Kingston Point Park item back in July 8, of 1919. They say it was an ideal hot July 4 with the largest crowds of the day being at Kingston Point Park and Forsyth Park where municipal exercises were held in the evening.

Quoting directly from newspaper of 1919: "At Kingston Point Park, by auto, by trolley and by boat came thousands to the park . . . a display of fireworks followed the music and oratory. Bath Beach at the Point also was popular, but owing to the fact that it was low tide all afternoon, there were not as many in bathing as was expected on such an extremely warm day."

The item continues: "The trolley line with its six-cent fare must have made a fine profit, for all day long it was necessary to run four trolley cars,, two on each line, and even then there did not appear to be enough cars to handle the traffic at Kingston Point, as every car that left the park for home was packed and jammed with passengers hanging on like flies where ever they could secure a toe hold and a hand clasp." Well, the park is still there, folks still go down there. Some fish, others just sit and talk on folded chairs which they bring, others walk with their little children through the many paths. Some folks I have met at the park are strangers to this locality and cannot understand why the park is neglected, especially people from New York city. When I tell them what it was like years back, and show them where the Pavillion stood, where the merry-go-round gave us youngsters so much fun, where the dance hall was etc., they look at me and ask "but what happened to it all?" To that I never seem to have an answer to satisfy them. "But this is a summer resort town," they tell me. "What, no swimming pool or beach in the city?" Perhaps some of the readers can answer these questions.

Might Get Hurricane

Miami, Fla., June 2 (AP)—The season's first tropical storm pushed slowly northward in the Gulf of Mexico 230 miles southwest of Fort Myers today and weather forecasters said it may develop into a hurricane. The storm had winds up to 60 miles per hour north and east of its center and squalls extended outward 150 miles to the north and northeast.

Why We Say--

. . . No tax

As most people know, moonshine whiskey is that which is made illicitly to evade the payment of taxes. It got its name from the fact that most of it was made in the hills by the light of the moon when revenue agents were supposed to be asleep.

Dulles Fears Asia, Near East Might Go to Communism

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles returned from his survey trip to the Near East and South Asia declaring that this strategic area, like China, could fall victim to Communist domination.

"The situation calls for urgent concern," Dulles said last night in a nationally broadcast and televised report on his 20,000-mile tour of 12 countries.

He said he found the United States "suspect" because of its alliance with France and Britain, countries suspected by some non-Europeans of trying to restore their colonial interests. The Arabs, he said, harbor a "deep resentment" against this country and are "more fearful of Zionism (the movement in support of a Jewish state) than of communism."

Saying that the U. S. had given most of its "post-war attention" to the "very important, but not all-important" western European area, Dulles observed, "it is high time that the U. S. government paid more attention to the Near East and South Asia." "It came as a surprising shock when the 450 million Chinese people, whom he had counted as friends, fell under Communist domination," he continued. "There could be equally dangerous developments in the East and South Asia. The situations calls for urgent concern."

Death Ruled Suicide

Cambridge, Mass., June 2 (AP)—The death of Raymond Kaplan, 42, of Flushing, N. Y., a Voice of America employe who was killed by a truck March 4, has been ruled a suicide. District Court Judge John H. Morris said in an inquest report last night: "I find Kaplan deliberately plunged into the path of the truck." The report said also Kaplan was "in mortal fear" of being summoned before Sen. McCarthy's Senate committee, then investigating the Voice of America. Judge Morris said there was no evidence to indicate why Kaplan feared to go before the McCarthy committee.

Passports Are Sought

Los Angeles, June 2 (AP)—Film producer Walter Wanger and his actress wife, Joan Bennett, estranged after he shot her agent in December, 1951, have applied for passports for a European tour. The application, filed yesterday, indicated they will leave late next month on a six-month trip through Italy, France, Switzerland and England. Their children, Stephanie, 8, and Shelley, 4, will go with them. Wanger disclosed last month that he had been living for six months in his wife's Holmby Hills residence, but he would not discuss reports of a reconciliation.

As Pegler Sees It

collected $68,608,650 in 1952 and had a surplus of $21,186,810.

The Times' account observed that only four banks in the Chicago Federal Reserve District in their latest reports disclosed deposits equal to the treasury of this organization whose ostensible limited purpose is to represent its members in dealings with their employers. Actually, Dubinsky has become the absolute autocrat over the whole garment industry. He dominates the employers and their physical assets as well as the workers. His report boasts of supplementary "voluntary" gifts of $1,053,024 to a political campaign fund. Dubinsky himself, in the winter of 1952, crudely reminded Rudolph Halley, the brightly sputtering counsel of the absurd Kefauver committee, that his, Dubinsky's own vest-pocket political subsidiary of the union, known as the Liberal party, had been responsible for Halley's election to be president of the city council. Halley admitted his indebtedness. Most candidates in the city and state of New York placate Dubinsky.

There is no reason why any labor union conforming to the proper functions of a union should tax its members more than just enough to carry on its legitimate business and leave a proportionate reserve. Nn union should ever be allowed to levy tribute from industry as this one does, ostensibly for welfare, health and vacation funds. These are no obligation of the employer, but the power of extortion has enabled the garment workers, the teamsters, the mine workers and the steel and auto workers' unions to roll up masses of wealth which are almost independent of all legal discipline or control. Dubinsky gave $50,000 to the socialist organization called Americans for Democratic action, which, like his own union and the AF of L, maintains agents in Europe.

In key cases, it has been shown that Dubinsky is a tyrant toward any subject who objects to arbitrary exactions of money out of small pay. The classical case is that of Mrs. Helen Kulesha, whose vacation allowance, earned by hard work and paid by the employer to the union, in her name, was denied her because she refused to submit to a shakedown for Israel and Italy. She went to court, alone, in New York and the judge made the union disgorge to the penny.

It is not a fact that Dubinsky's "account" to his members is complete. He admitted that when he unwisely reported expenditures on underground work in Europe in the war and explained that of course the details could not be told.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In July of 1919 I ran across the following in The Kingston Freeman and Journal which I thought may interest local fishermen. "Relative to the appeal of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association, to keep carp out of the Ashokan reservoir, Game Protector Fred DeWitt called attention today to Section 250 of the Conservation law, which states: "No person shall put or place in any of the public waters of the state, fish commonly known as carp, nor shall any person put or place the spawn of such fish or use such fish as bait in the water thereof." The purpose of this section is to protect other fish that inhabit such water. By keeping carp out of these waters, the sport is kept up to the standard. Does that mean that carp is a war-like fish or what.

One of the advertisements in the July 1, 1919 Freeman of the Rose-Gorman-Rose store covered electric light bulbs which read as follows: "The kind that use little current and give good light. Tungsten lamps, for electric lights, guaranteed for 1,000 hours burning." In those days a 10 watt size of the above type cost 35 cents and a 100 watt cost 85 cents. The store also sold "gas filled nitrogen bulbs" which gave a "brilliant light." That type in the 100 watt size cost $1.10 and the 200 watt $1.95.

I wonder if I dare mention a Kingston Point Park item back in July 8, of 1919. They say it was an ideal hot July 4 with the largest crowds of the day being at Kingston Point Park and Forsyth Park where municipal exercises were held in the evening.

Quoting directly from newspaper of 1919: "At Kingston Point Park, by auto, by trolley and by boat came thousands to the park . . . a display of fireworks followed the music and oratory. Bath Beach at the Point also was popular, but owing to the fact that it was low tide all afternoon, there were not as many in bathing as was expected on such an extremely warm day."

The item continues: "The trolley line with its six-cent fare must have made a fine profit, for all day long it was necessary to run four trolley cars,, two on each line, and even then there did not appear to be enough cars to handle the traffic at Kingston Point, as every car that left the park for home was packed and jammed with passengers hanging on like flies where ever they could secure a toe hold and a hand clasp." Well, the park is still there, folks still go down there. Some fish, others just sit and talk on folded chairs which they bring, others walk with their little children through the many paths. Some folks I have met at the park are strangers to this locality and cannot understand why the park is neglected, especially people from New York city. When I tell them what it was like years back, and show them where the Pavillion stood, where the merry-go-round gave us youngsters so much fun, where the dance hall was etc., they look at me and ask "but what happened to it all?" To that I never seem to have an answer to satisfy them. "But this is a summer resort town," they tell me. "What, no swimming pool or beach in the city?" Perhaps some of the readers can answer these questions.

Might Get Hurricane

Miami, Fla., June 2 (AP)—The season's first tropical storm pushed slowly northward in the Gulf of Mexico 230 miles southwest of Fort Myers today and weather forecasters said it may develop into a hurricane. The storm had winds up to 60 miles per hour north and east of its center and squalls extended outward 150 miles to the north and northeast.

Why We Say--

. . . No tax

As most people know, moonshine whiskey is that which is made illicitly to evade the payment of taxes. It got its name from the fact that most of it was made in the hills by the light of the moon when revenue agents were supposed to be asleep.

Dulles Fears Asia, Near East Might Go to Communism

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles returned from his survey trip to the Near East and South Asia declaring that this strategic area, like China, could fall victim to Communist domination.

"The situation calls for urgent concern," Dulles said last night in a nationally broadcast and televised report on his 20,000-mile tour of 12 countries.

He said he found the United States "suspect" because of its alliance with France and Britain, countries suspected by some non-Europeans of trying to restore their colonial interests. The Arabs, he said, harbor a "deep resentment" against this country and are "more fearful of Zionism (the movement in support of a Jewish state) than of communism."

Saying that the U. S. had given most of its "post-war attention" to the "very important, but not all-important" western European area, Dulles observed, "it is high time that the U. S. government paid more attention to the Near East and South Asia." "It came as a surprising shock when the 450 million Chinese people, whom he had counted as friends, fell under Communist domination," he continued. "There could be equally dangerous developments in the East and South Asia. The situations calls for urgent concern."

Death Ruled Suicide

Cambridge, Mass., June 2 (AP)—The death of Raymond Kaplan, 42, of Flushing, N. Y., a Voice of America employe who was killed by a truck March 4, has been ruled a suicide. District Court Judge John H. Morris said in an inquest report last night: "I find Kaplan deliberately plunged into the path of the truck." The report said also Kaplan was "in mortal fear" of being summoned before Sen. McCarthy's Senate committee, then investigating the Voice of America. Judge Morris said there was no evidence to indicate why Kaplan feared to go before the McCarthy committee.

Passports Are Sought

Los Angeles, June 2 (AP)—Film producer Walter Wanger and his actress wife, Joan Bennett, estranged after he shot her agent in December, 1951, have applied for passports for a European tour. The application, filed yesterday, indicated they will leave late next month on a six-month trip through Italy, France, Switzerland and England. Their children, Stephanie, 8, and Shelley, 4, will go with them. Wanger disclosed last month that he had been living for six months in his wife's Holmby Hills residence, but he would not discuss reports of a reconciliation.

collected $68,608,650 in 1952 and had a surplus of $21,186,810.

The Times' account observed that only four banks in the Chicago Federal Reserve District in their latest reports disclosed deposits equal to the treasury of this organization whose ostensible limited purpose is to represent its members in dealings with their employers. Actually, Dubinsky has become the absolute autocrat over the whole garment industry. He dominates the employers and their physical assets as well as the workers. His report boasts of supplementary "voluntary" gifts of $1,053,024 to a political campaign fund. Dubinsky himself, in the winter of 1952, crudely reminded Rudolph Halley, the brightly sputtering counsel of the absurd Kefauver committee, that his, Dubinsky's own vest-pocket political subsidiary of the union, known as the Liberal party, had been responsible for Halley's election to be president of the city council. Halley admitted his indebtedness. Most candidates in the city and state of New York placate Dubinsky.

There is no reason why any labor union conforming to the proper functions of a union should tax its members more than just enough to carry on its legitimate business and leave a proportionate reserve. No union should ever be allowed to levy tribute from industry as this one does, ostensibly for welfare, health and vacation funds. These are no obligation of the employer, but the power of extortion has enabled the garment workers, the teamsters, the mine workers and the steel and auto workers' unions to roll up masses of wealth which are almost independent of all legal discipline or control. Dubinsky gave $50,000 to the socialist organization called Americans for Democratic action, which, like his own union and the AF of L, maintains agents in Europe.

In key cases, it has been shown that Dubinsky is a tyrant toward any subject who objects to arbitrary exactions of money out of small pay. The classical case is that of Mrs. Helen Kulesha, whose vacation allowance, earned by hard work and paid by the employer to the union, in her name, was denied her because she refused to submit to a shakedown for Israel and Italy. She went to court, alone, in New York and the judge made the union disgorge to the penny.

It is not a fact that Dubinsky's "account" to his members is complete. He admitted that when he unwisely reported expenditures on underground work in Europe in the war and explained that of course the details could not be told.

tonight and Wednesday. Temperatures tonight much the same as last night, the lowest ranging from the low 50's in the city to near 50 in the most northerly suburbs. Pleasantly warm again Wednesday with afternoon temperatures well up in the 70's. Moderately northwesterly winds this afternoon, becoming gentle northwest tonight and Wednesday.

Eastern New York—Fair tonight, lowest 40 to 45. Wednesday mostly sunny, highest 68 to 76.

The city engineer's weather records today showed a temperature of 73 degrees at 10 a. m., a barometric pressure of 29.50, a humidity of 58 per cent and a northwest wind with a velocity of 15 MPH. The high temperature yesterday was 80 at 4 p. m., and the low was 49 at 5 a. m. The mean temperature was 65 and the normal 65. The humidity was 99 at 4 a. m. and 56 at 4 p. m. The barometric pressure was 29.50 at 9 a. m., the low was 29.45 at 6 p. m. The wind was northeast at 7 MPH.

Forecast Is Given

New York, June 2 (AP)—Weather forecast for Middle Atlantic states and eastern New York, tomorrow through Sunday: Temperatures will be two to five degrees below normal for the period. Milder Thursday. Cooler by Friday night. Chance of showers about Thursday night and again around Sunday. Total rainfall one-half to three-quarters inch.

Decision Reserved In School Dispute

Kingston, June 2 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman reserved decision today on the tangled dispute over unification of three Long Island school districts, but promised he would make up his mind before Saturday.

June 6 is the date previously set for residents to vote on merging the three districts — Glenwood Landing compromising part of Oyster Bay and North Hempstead, with Sea Cliff and Glen Head of Oyster Bay. Glenwood Landing is one of the richest school districts in the country, according to David S. Hill, Jr., attorney, who represented it at the hearing before Justice Deckelman.

Hill petitioned the judge to set aside the unification order issued May 8 by Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education, on the grounds the official's jurisdiction ceased when he issued a different merger order on May 1. The state commissioner fixes the boundaries of proposed school districts.

Told by Jehu

The court was told by John P. Jehu, attorney representing the State Education Department, that the second order had been issued to correct a clerical mistake in the May 1 edict, of including the Westbury School District of Hempstead and North Hempstead in the merger.

It was also argued that the first Wilson order never was in effect because it was not formally filed, and therefore the subsequent document was properly issued by the commissioner.

Rosenberg Execution To Be 10 PM, June 18

New York, June 2 (AP)—U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll announced today condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg will be executed at 10 p. m. (EST) June 18.

Carroll said the date and time were determined after a 75-minute conference between him and Warden Wilfred Denno at Sing Sing prison yesterday.

Bloch Will Seek New Trial for Two

New York, June 2 (AP)—The attorney for condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg says he will move for a new trial, perhaps later this week, on the ground of what he calls new evidence.

The lawyer, Emanuel H. Bloch, made his intentions known in Federal Court yesterday as the judge who doomed the husband and wife team warned that their time is running out.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman once again refused to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs and, speaking of future defense motions, told Bloch:

"I would suggest that you bring on everything you have with dispatch."

Bloch said the pleas for a new trial, along with further motions in the U.S. Court of Appeals, was among moves he would make for his clients. Bloch did not elaborate.

Put to Death

Kaufman last Friday ordered the Rosenbergs to be put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, during the week of June 15. The execution probably will be set for Thursday, June 18.

Yesterday Kaufman denied two motions by Bloch: One to set aside the death sentence and substitute 20-year prison terms, the other for a further stay of execution.

Earlier in the day, the U.S. Court of Appeals reserved decision on another plea that the death sentences against the two be set aside. The Appeals Court in the past has rejected a similar motion.

The Rosenbergs first were sentenced to death by Kaufman two years ago for conspiring to transmit atom secrets to Soviet Russia from 1944 to 1950. Their only hope for leniency appears to be their deciding to tell all they know about espionage in the U.S. However, they insist they are innocent and have nothing to disclose.

Says Car Was Struck

Robert Werner of Ulster Park notified police Monday at 5:30 p. m. that his parked car was struck and damaged while parked in the Governor Clinton Market parking lot on St. James street. Werner reported damage to his car's left rear bumper.

Keen Rivalry Seen For Road-E-O Meet

The second annual Teen-Age Road-E-O will be held Saturday, June 6, at municipal stadium starting at 10 a. m.

According to Bob Stedge, chairman, this year's competition is developing into a real rivalry between the teen-age boys and girls.

Stedge also pointed out today that local winners will take part in the state semi-finals. State winners will go to Washington, D. C., for the finals.

Last year Joseph Nelson, a Kingston contestant, won second prize in the state championship.

Among the awards to be offered are three large trophies, three all-expense trips to the state championship at West Seneca Falls, Buffalo; four tires and lubrication jobs.

The public is invited to attend Saturday's event as guests of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

by the store, stopped momentarily and then proceeded to ride around the block by way of Smith avenue to Ardsley street and then to Tremper avenue when a man alighted and threw the stone at the window.

After heaving the stone, the police report continued, the man, who was described as wearing a gray or light shirt, ran to the car which moved away towards Albany avenue over Tremper avenue.

Glass Panes Removed

Officers Ellsworth and Leonard investigated this morning's robbery at municipal stadium and reported that the person or persons had entered by way of the door facing Forsyth Park, removed three small panes of glass and then proceeded to crawl through a hole in the door. The officers said the vandals then removed a 2 x 4 timber which had been placed against the door after the last entry into the same room.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons also were assigned to the case this morning.

Prowler Is Reported

Police also were notified at 2:05 a. m. today of a prowler in the vicinity of 81 Fair street. Officers Harbeck and O'Rourke investigated and reported they were positive someone was about the home as there were foot prints in the driveway of the Fair street address.

Three Men Face Narcotics Charges

Newburgh, June 2 (AP)—Three men were charged today with possession and sale of narcotics after a three-week investigation by federal agents.

They waived examination when arraigned before Judge Anthony Favino, and were held in Orange County Jail without bail for action of the grand jury. District Attorney Abraham Isseks said the charges involve heroin and marijuana.

The prisoners were listed by Isseks as Arthur Green, 25 and Willie Outlaw, 22, both soldiers stationed at Stewart Air Force Base near here, and Charles Ware, 18, of Newburgh.

The three were arrested here last night by three U. S. narcotics agents, Isseks and Police Chief John Mullarkey. Two automobiles were seized.

Isseks said local authorities received a tip three weeks ago about narcotics sales, and informed James C. Ryan, district supervisor of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau at New York city.

Ryan assigned the three agents to the case, and, posing as addicts, they became friendly with the three accused men and made purchases of narcotics, Isseks said. Yesterday, he related, the agents and the accused sellers went to Newark, N. J., to pick up $100 worth of marijuana.

Reports Sugar in Tank

The second recent complaint of a motorist of having sugar dumped into his gas tank was reported to the police at 5:20 p. m. Monday. James H. Longendyke, 43 Charlotte street, notified police that someone had placed sugar in his gas tank while his 1952 Club Coupe was parked in front of his home. Last week a worker with the Ross Manning Shows on Albany avenue extension also told police that sugar had been placed in the gas tank of her vehicle.

thing, but an NBC spokesman at Boston said today that its Mustang was heading for Gander because of bad weather at Goose Bay. NBC said the P-51 would serve as "a backstop" and to fly later film to Boston.

Both CBS and NBC earlier had said the Mustangs would race to Boston from Gander. The networks are to originate their film telecasts at Boston.

If NBC should get its films to Boston in the time estimated by its London spokesman, they would arrive there between noon (EST) and 12:30 p. m.

CBS said there would be no change in its plans.

The Royal Canadian Air Force planned to fly the CBC's films from Goose Bay to Montreal by jet fighters for telecast there and, by network link, from Toronto. The ABC network scheduled a network pickup of the CBC film telecast from 7:15 to 9:25 p. m. (EST).

NBC will telecast a film summary from 9:30 to 11 p. m. (EST) and CBS plans one from 10 to 11 p. m.

Each has chartered a regular commercial airliner, fitted with film processing and editing equipment, for flying additional coronation film directly from London to Boston to be included in the evening summaries.

Not to miss any bets, NBC set up a British type receiver with extra powerful antenna and equipment on Long Island just in case of a freak direct pickup of the BBC's live telecasts. But an RCA engineer said the chances "are not one in ten million." There have been such pickups for brief intervals on several occasions in past year during freak atmospheric conditions.

If you enjoy fine beer... try Knickerbocker just once!
YOU'LL SAY IT'S THE FINEST YOU EVER TASTED!
EXTRA LIGHT—FROSTY-DRY—LESS "FILLING," TOO!
Just one glass of Knickerbocker tells you—there's no other beer so delicious! That's why Knickerbocker is by far New York's fastest-growing beer! And the secret is a simple one: It's brewed finer to taste finer! Knickerbocker contains a full measure of all the choicest ingredients that are needed to brew a full-bodied, truly satisfying beer. But Knickerbocker is brewed LIGHT . . . by its own exclusive brewing process. The full flavor remains—the bulk is gone. So, sparkling clear Knickerbocker is extra light . . . frosty-dry . . . a modern, low-calory beer that's far less "filling" than beers of the past. Enjoy it today . . . enjoy it often.

Kingston, June 2 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman reserved decision today on the tangled dispute over unification of three Long Island school districts, but promised he would make up his mind before Saturday.

June 6 is the date previously set for residents to vote on merging the three districts — Glenwood Landing compromising part of Oyster Bay and North Hempstead, with Sea Cliff and Glen Head of Oyster Bay. Glenwood Landing is one of the richest school districts in the country, according to David S. Hill, Jr., attorney, who represented it at the hearing before Justice Deckelman.

Hill petitioned the judge to set aside the unification order issued May 8 by Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education, on the grounds the official's jurisdiction ceased when he issued a different merger order on May 1. The state commissioner fixes the boundaries of proposed school districts.

Told by Jehu

The court was told by John P. Jehu, attorney representing the State Education Department, that the second order had been issued to correct a clerical mistake in the May 1 edict, of including the Westbury School District of Hempstead and North Hempstead in the merger.

It was also argued that the first Wilson order never was in effect because it was not formally filed, and therefore the subsequent document was properly issued by the commissioner.

Rosenberg Execution To Be 10 PM, June 18

New York, June 2 (AP)—U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll announced today condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg will be executed at 10 p. m. (EST) June 18.

Carroll said the date and time were determined after a 75-minute conference between him and Warden Wilfred Denno at Sing Sing prison yesterday.

Bloch Will Seek New Trial for Two

New York, June 2 (AP)—The attorney for condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg says he will move for a new trial, perhaps later this week, on the ground of what he calls new evidence.

The lawyer, Emanuel H. Bloch, made his intentions known in Federal Court yesterday as the judge who doomed the husband and wife team warned that their time is running out.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman once again refused to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs and, speaking of future defense motions, told Bloch:

"I would suggest that you bring on everything you have with dispatch."

Bloch said the pleas for a new trial, along with further motions in the U.S. Court of Appeals, was among moves he would make for his clients. Bloch did not elaborate.

Put to Death

Kaufman last Friday ordered the Rosenbergs to be put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, during the week of June 15. The execution probably will be set for Thursday, June 18.

Yesterday Kaufman denied two motions by Bloch: One to set aside the death sentence and substitute 20-year prison terms, the other for a further stay of execution.

Earlier in the day, the U.S. Court of Appeals reserved decision on another plea that the death sentences against the two be set aside. The Appeals Court in the past has rejected a similar motion.

The Rosenbergs first were sentenced to death by Kaufman two years ago for conspiring to transmit atom secrets to Soviet Russia from 1944 to 1950. Their only hope for leniency appears to be their deciding to tell all they know about espionage in the U.S. However, they insist they are innocent and have nothing to disclose.

Says Car Was Struck

Robert Werner of Ulster Park notified police Monday at 5:30 p. m. that his parked car was struck and damaged while parked in the Governor Clinton Market parking lot on St. James street. Werner reported damage to his car's left rear bumper.

Keen Rivalry Seen For Road-E-O Meet

The second annual Teen-Age Road-E-O will be held Saturday, June 6, at municipal stadium starting at 10 a. m.

According to Bob Stedge, chairman, this year's competition is developing into a real rivalry between the teen-age boys and girls.

Stedge also pointed out today that local winners will take part in the state semi-finals. State winners will go to Washington, D. C., for the finals.

Last year Joseph Nelson, a Kingston contestant, won second prize in the state championship.

Among the awards to be offered are three large trophies, three all-expense trips to the state championship at West Seneca Falls, Buffalo; four tires and lubrication jobs.

The public is invited to attend Saturday's event as guests of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

by the store, stopped momentarily and then proceeded to ride around the block by way of Smith avenue to Ardsley street and then to Tremper avenue when a man alighted and threw the stone at the window.

After heaving the stone, the police report continued, the man, who was described as wearing a gray or light shirt, ran to the car which moved away towards Albany avenue over Tremper avenue.

Glass Panes Removed

Officers Ellsworth and Leonard investigated this morning's robbery at municipal stadium and reported that the person or persons had entered by way of the door facing Forsyth Park, removed three small panes of glass and then proceeded to crawl through a hole in the door. The officers said the vandals then removed a 2 x 4 timber which had been placed against the door after the last entry into the same room.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons also were assigned to the case this morning.

Prowler Is Reported

Police also were notified at 2:05 a. m. today of a prowler in the vicinity of 81 Fair street. Officers Harbeck and O'Rourke investigated and reported they were positive someone was about the home as there were foot prints in the driveway of the Fair street address.

Three Men Face Narcotics Charges

Newburgh, June 2 (AP)—Three men were charged today with possession and sale of narcotics after a three-week investigation by federal agents.

They waived examination when arraigned before Judge Anthony Favino, and were held in Orange County Jail without bail for action of the grand jury. District Attorney Abraham Isseks said the charges involve heroin and marijuana.

The prisoners were listed by Isseks as Arthur Green, 25 and Willie Outlaw, 22, both soldiers stationed at Stewart Air Force Base near here, and Charles Ware, 18, of Newburgh.

The three were arrested here last night by three U. S. narcotics agents, Isseks and Police Chief John Mullarkey. Two automobiles were seized.

Isseks said local authorities received a tip three weeks ago about narcotics sales, and informed James C. Ryan, district supervisor of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau at New York city.

Ryan assigned the three agents to the case, and, posing as addicts, they became friendly with the three accused men and made purchases of narcotics, Isseks said. Yesterday, he related, the agents and the accused sellers went to Newark, N. J., to pick up $100 worth of marijuana.

Reports Sugar in Tank

The second recent complaint of a motorist of having sugar dumped into his gas tank was reported to the police at 5:20 p. m. Monday. James H. Longendyke, 43 Charlotte street, notified police that someone had placed sugar in his gas tank while his 1952 Club Coupe was parked in front of his home. Last week a worker with the Ross Manning Shows on Albany avenue extension also told police that sugar had been placed in the gas tank of her vehicle.

thing, but an NBC spokesman at Boston said today that its Mustang was heading for Gander because of bad weather at Goose Bay. NBC said the P-51 would serve as "a backstop" and to fly later film to Boston.

Both CBS and NBC earlier had said the Mustangs would race to Boston from Gander. The networks are to originate their film telecasts at Boston.

If NBC should get its films to Boston in the time estimated by its London spokesman, they would arrive there between noon (EST) and 12:30 p. m.

CBS said there would be no change in its plans.

The Royal Canadian Air Force planned to fly the CBC's films from Goose Bay to Montreal by jet fighters for telecast there and, by network link, from Toronto. The ABC network scheduled a network pickup of the CBC film telecast from 7:15 to 9:25 p. m. (EST).

NBC will telecast a film summary from 9:30 to 11 p. m. (EST) and CBS plans one from 10 to 11 p. m.

Each has chartered a regular commercial airliner, fitted with film processing and editing equipment, for flying additional coronation film directly from London to Boston to be included in the evening summaries.

Not to miss any bets, NBC set up a British type receiver with extra powerful antenna and equipment on Long Island just i case of a freak direct pickup o the BBC's live telecasts. Bu an RCA engineer said the chance "are not one in ten million. There have been such pickups fo brief intervals on several occa sions in past year during freal atmospheric conditions.
